Mystery Death of Girl In Auto Under Probe

YOUTH KEEPS BODY IN CAR FOR SIX HOURS

Coroner Delays Verdict On Gladys Zimmerman, 15, Pending Inquiry

BOY COMPANION JAILED

Albert Hawkins, Age 17, "Dopey" When Arrested, Sheriff Says

Death under strange circumstances of a 15-year-old Perry township high school sophomore in the automobile of her 17-year-old boy friend was being investigated Monday by authorities of Pickaway and Fayette counties.

Gladys Zimmerman, daughter of Harry Zimmerman of Atlanta, died Sunday morning in the automobile of Albert O. Hawkins of Washington C. H. Route 2. The youth informed Sheriff Charles H. Radcliff that he discovered before noon Sunday that she was dead. She had left home Saturday evening with the youth and both had spent the night in his automobile at a roadside park near Johnson's Crossing, Fayette county.

"Hawkins told us," the sheriff said, "that he noticed about noon Sunday that she was dead. Despite this, he did not take her to her home until between 5 and 6 hours later."

Coroner's verdict concerning the cause of death will not be announced before the investigation is completed.

Hawkins Jailed

The Hawkins youth, who had been working on the pipeline near Lancaster, was lodged in Pickaway county jail Sunday night. He will be booked for investigation until the inquiry has been completed.

Sheriff Radcliff said Monday that Dr. George W. Heffner of Circleville said that the girl was an expectant mother. A post mortem conducted at the C. E. Hill funeral home, Williamsport, under orders of Acting Coroner B. T. Hedges, disclosed that "plenty of evidence was found in the stomach to show that she had taken some kind of a drug," according to Dr. Heffner.

The complete post mortem report will be made by Dr. Horace Davison of Columbus after a chemical analysis is made of the contents of the school girl's stomach. Dr. Davison was called here to make the post mortem. His report is expected in the next day or two.

Youth Questioned

In the meantime, questioning of the Hawkins youth is to be continued. The sheriff said the boy was "dopey" when he was questioned Sunday night. He denied that the girl had taken any medicine. He said both had spent Saturday evening in Washington C. H. and had driven to the roadside park at Johnson's Crossing where they spent the night in the automobile.

The Hawkins boy said he had (Continued on Page Three)

SOLON KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Rep. J. William Ditter And Naval Officer Victims Of Eastern Tragedy

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 22—Death of Congressional J. William Ditter, chairman of the national Republican congressional committee, in a navy airplane accident last night was disclosed today by the Fourth Naval district.

Lieut. Comdr. J. J. Mansure, executive officer of the naval air training station at Willow Grove, Pa., also was killed in the crash.

Rep. Ditter and Comdr. Mansure crashed near Columbia, Pa., after taking off from a Navy base at Squantum, Mass., for Willow Grove. They were the only occupants of the single motored navy plane.

Ditter was a member of the house naval affairs committee and one of the most outspoken critics of the New Deal in the house.

The plane burned after it crashed, the Navy said.

Naval investigators said the plane was believed to have encountered a terrific rainstorm last night which apparently carried it far off the course. They also expressed belief that the plane ran out of gasoline.

SOLDIERS MAY INVITE PARENTS TO EAT TURKEY

CAMP PERRY, Nov. 22—Parents of Camp Perry soldiers are going to get a real treat this Thanksgiving, to say nothing of the boys in uniform.

Soldiers may invite their parents for the dinner, the menu of which is reminiscent of pre-war days, and the mothers and dads will not have to forfeit any precious points for the occasion.

Here's the menu: Fruit cup, roast turkey with giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, mashed potatoes, buttered peas, creamed asparagus, tomato and lettuce salad with 1000 island dressing, celery, assorted pickles, pumpkin pie, coffee, rolls and butter, apples, grapes, candies, nuts, cigars and cigarettes.

BUMS TO GET BOLOGNA ONLY FOR HOLIDAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—News verging on the tragic spread today among the bums and panhandlers who have a cagy practice of getting themselves arrested just before a holiday so as to partake in the Thanksgiving or Christmas turkey.

But there'll be no turkey this Thanksgiving at the Central police station. Instead the piece of resistance will be bologna, the jailers announced. But it'll be cut thick.

The turkey shortage was the reason for the change in menu.

LEGION BUYS PROPERTY ON MAIN STREET

Howard Hall post, American Legion, has bought the East Main street property of the late Emma Stout, and expects to take possession in the next few weeks.

While the purchase price was not announced, yet the property has been on the market for the last several months at $8,000. The post will center all its activities in the new home, the Legion conducting its meeting there and club facilities also being installed there. The post at present operates its club rooms at 210 1/2 North Court street. It conducts its post meetings, however, in Memorial Hall.

SENATE TO BACK RAIL WORKERS

Approval Seen For Eight-Cent Hourly Increase In Wage Scale

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—Senate approval of an eight-cent hourly wage increase for one million, one hundred thousand non-operating railroad employees appeared imminent today as the deadline neared for announcement of the results of a nation-wide strike ballot by these workers.

Chairman Wheeler (D) Mont., of the senate interstate commerce committee, endorsed the increase and planned a meeting of his committee, today or tomorrow to consider recommendations of a subcommittee for passage of a resolution validating the pay boost.

Leaders of the 15 non-operating unions are expected to disclose the results of their strike ballot by Thursday. Previous indications were that the railway employees were voting almost 100 percent to strike if denied the increase.

The rail controversy overshadowed the slow-moving coal wage dispute which was clarified somewhat over the weekend by the War Labor Board's ruling on the temporary contract effective during the period of government control of the mines.

Operators and representatives of the United Mine Workers Union resumed discussions looking toward a permanent wage agreement for the industry while awaiting the government's decision on a coal price increase.

Sen. Wheeler endorsed the eight-cent hourly wage increase for the railroad employees along with a similar statement of approval by Sen. Wagner (D) N. Y.

LONGERMAN IN DENIAL

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Wayne Longerman, 25-year-old RCAF cadet and cafe society playboy, pleaded innocent today to a charge of first degree murder in the slaying of his pretty wife. Longerman is accused of the bludgeon-strangulation slaying of Patricia Burton Longerman, 22, whose nude and battered body was discovered by a male friend four weeks ago yesterday in her swank Beekman place apartment.

BOREN PLANS WAR ON OPA IF SUBSIDIES WIN

Oklahoma Democrat Calls For Eliminating CCC And Price Support

SPEECH IS PREPARED

Agency 'Like Al Capone' Went Out And Got Cash After Congress Ban, Is Claim

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22—Rep. Boren (D) Okla., announced today that if the administration wins its fight to continue consumer subsidies he will introduce legislation to abolish the Office of Price Administration.

Boren called for elimination of both the Commodity Credit Corporation and the food subsidy program as the house prepared to vote today on the CCC extension bill with its ban on existing subsidies after December 31.

"If subsidies go through, there is no price control," he declared. The Oklahoman, who is bitterly opposed to extending the life of the CCC on the ground that "its evils overshadow its good," said he would move to kill the entire bill by striking out its enacting clause.

If that move fails, he said he would oppose the bill on every floor test, voting finally against passage in order to kill the commodity credit corporation and the subsidy program.

Opposes Despotism

In a speech prepared for delivery to the house, Boren said: "It is true that the Commodity Credit Corporation has done a lot of good things. Benevolent despotism did many good things, but I don't believe in despotism—benevolent or not."

He charged that the CCC on July 31 ordered processors of protein feed to increase prices to farmers and remit to the agency the difference, which in the case of cottonseed cake amounted to $13 a ton.

VILLAGE BUILDS WATER WORKS, CAN NOT USE IT

PORT BYRON, Ill., Nov. 22—The village of Port Byron, with its 1,200 inhabitants, congratulated itself today on a brand new $145,250 water and sewer system.

But the civic pride of the residents was dimmed by one depressing circumstance. They had the water supply, all right, but no faucets for it to run through and no sinks and bathtubs for it to run into.

That was the fault of the district office of the War Production Board at Davenport, Ia., which refused to approve any purchases of plumbing fixtures by the residents, Mayor Eugene Mueller declared.

And unless the townspersons get the water, he asked, where will the revenue come from to pay the interest and principal on those bonds?

BRITISH LABOR UNIONS PROTEST MOSELY RELEASE

LONDON, Nov. 22—Protests of labor unions and organizations throughout the British Isles continued to mount today against the release from prison of Sir Oswald Mosley, British fascist leader.

British labor leaders expressed their indignation over Mosley's release despite assurances that Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, is planning to make a full statement on the subject at the next meeting of the house of commons.

Mosley and his wife were taken out a back door of the jail in London during the pre-dawn blackout Saturday, and were whisked away to an unknown destination while photographers and reporters waited for them at the main entrance.

Dairymen Refused Air, Subsidy Speech By CIO Chieftain Substituted

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—The American Dairy Association announced today it had asked Washington authorities to investigate the reason its regular Sunday noon broadcast was refused the air yesterday and a speech by a CIO labor leader substituted.

Owen M. Richards, manager of the association which claimed to represent 5,000,000 dairy farmers, said R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers, spoke from Detroit on the association's usual time, favoring federal subsidies as a measure to hold down the cost of food.

"The association program was choked off the air at the eleventh hour when the controversial subject of food subsidies, affecting the nation at large, was approaching a congressional decision," Richards declared.

"To have our radio time taken away in this fashion and given to the CIO, which is not in harmony with the farmer's viewpoint, is shocking. The method used borders on dictator nation methods, and is not to be expected in a free America."

Richards said the association was notified Friday night that its regular 15-minute Sunday broadcast would not go on the air. He said a protest was made, the association refusing to give up its time.

Nevertheless, Richards said, the association again was informed Saturday by the National Broadcasting Company that the program would not go on from the Chicago studios, but that Thomas would speak from Detroit instead.

An NBC spokesman in Chicago admitted the Thomas speech had been broadcast at the usual time of the dairy program, but said that any explanation for the change would have to come from NBC officials in New York.

PRINCE OTTO IN STOCKHOLM ON MYSTERY VISIT

LONDON, Nov. 22—Prince Otto Von Bismarck, who was replaced as Nazi envoy to Rome shortly before the Italian surrender, has turned up in Stockholm, on a mysterious visit, the Daily Express reported today in a dispatch from the Swedish capital.

Another mysterious Nazi visitor to Stockholm, said the Express, was an unnamed, youthful member of the German war office, a pre-war Rhodes scholar, who has returned to the Reich after 10 days of propagandizing the Swedes on behalf of the Germans who have never been Nazis.

Authoritative British circles, meantime, repeated warning against a new crop of wishful thinking arising from such reports as Von Bismarck's arrival in Stockholm. Admittedly, they say, it is conceivable that this presentable old school type German diplomat may have been sent to the Swedish capital to sound out Allied opinion through the Swedes.

However, the Allied standpoint at present at least is that unconditional surrender is the only acceptable offer open to Germany.

POLICE CHIEF DRIVEN OUT OF HOME BY SKUNK

PIERMONT, N. Y., Nov. 22—The family of Police Chief Walter Edmonson dines out these days—all on account of a skunk.

The Edmonsons were awakened early yesterday by a thumping noise under their house. Edmonson investigated and found a skunk under the porch trying to dislodge a tin can into which its head was tightly wedged.

The police chief managed to rout the skunk and went back to bed—but the animal returned later, still wearing the can, and kicked up a fuss under the Edmonson's dining room.

At last reports, the skunk was still there—and the Edmonsons were eating in restaurants.

FIGHTERS SWEEP ASHORE FROM RECORD FLEET

Offensive Seeks To Break Outer Nip Defenses In Gilbert Islands

YANKS GIVE AIR COVER

Huns Fall Back In Italy And Russ Halt Fierce Nazi Counterblows

Adopts U. S. Army

By International News Service
The vanguard of an Allied offensive seeking to crumple Japan's outer island defense arc was engaged today in fierce struggles with the enemy garrisons on two strategic Gilbert islands.

The amphibious forces which swept ashore from possibly the largest invasion fleet ever assembled in the central Pacific established bridgeheads on Betio and Butaritari in the Tarawa and Makin atolls, respectively.

Twenty-four hours after the invasion craft breasted the pounding surf and tricky coral reefs about the islets, Pacific Fleet Commander Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced that they had secured the bridgeheads. With this announcement, the admiral indicated that he had made good his promise of an early offensive against the enemy's important strongholds.

Powerful Barrage

The troops that went ashore under cover of a powerful barrage from a fleet composed of every type of naval unit encountered strong enemy opposition in Tarawa, but only moderate opposition at Makin. Also providing protection for the invaders was a powerful American air armada.

Successful occupation of the Gilbert islands, as well as the nearby Marshalls, obviously would be but the prelude to clamping of a huge Allied pincer upon the enemy's key base at Truk, some 1,500 miles to the west. The other arm of the pincer already is being formed by American and Australian troops pressing forward in New Guinea and the Solomons.

Isles Hard Hit

Softening up of the invaded islands had been going on for a solid week as four-motored Liberators and carrier-based aircraft blasted both Gilbert and Marshall island targets. Even as the invasion fleet stood off Tarawa and Makin, the heavy bombers struck in a diversionary tactic against the Marshalls.

There were no details of Allied operations on Bougainville, where United States Marines and soldiers last were reported making progress from the bridgehead at Empress Augusta bay.

The other Axis partner was battered by Allied arms, too.

In Italy, where the battlefield was turned to a sea of mud by heavy rains, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's forces drove forward in the central part of the trans-penninsular line. The Anglo-Canadian Eighth Army seized the towns of Vastogirardi and San Pietro on the left flank of the advancing British force.

PLAIN AMERICAN MOTHER WINS WAR CONTEST

CHICAGO, Nov. 22—Mrs. Francis L. Fraser of Mattapan, Mass., who describes herself as "just another plain American mother," was announced today as winner in a nationwide contest to determine how the typical American housewife is fighting the war at home.

The contest was sponsored by the National Association of Retail Grocers through the consumer publication it issues.

Mrs. Fraser, wife of a defense worker and mother of four small children between the ages of 9 and 2 1/2 years, wrote that in addition to doing all her own housework, she raised a Victory garden, canned more than 200 jars of food from the garden, raised a Victory flock of chickens fed on table scraps, made regular war bond purchases and donations of blood to the Red Cross.

OPA Outlines Steps Necessary To Obtain Shoes For Youngsters

One of the complaints most frequently registered with the local ration boards is that parents have difficulty keeping their children in shoes under present rationing regulations.

Answering this complaint, OPA District Director Harry T. Beckmann today reminded parents that shoe stamps are interchangeable and that any ration book in the family may be used to buy children's shoes so long as the stamps are not removed from the book until purchases are made. Dealers will not accept loose stamps.

Furthermore, if the family has used all its shoe stamps and still is in need of a pair of shoes, they should go to their local War Price and Rationing Board and state their case when they will be given a form to fill out which will enable them to obtain the extra pair of shoes.

In making this rule, OPA tried to recognize the fact that the shoe needs of individual families vary a great deal and to meet unusual situations without upsetting the shoe rationing program.

Stove Allotments

A fifty percent increase in the allowable inventory of coal, wood and gas cooking stoves was announced by the Washington Office of Price Administration. Applications for the increased inventories by dealers are to be made to the local War Price and Rationing Board.

Local boards will advise the distributors.

HUNTERS RETURN TO FIELDS IN QUEST OF GAME

Circleville district hunters returned to the field Monday in quest of rabbits and pheasants with slightly cooler weather prevailing. However, veteran nimrods pointed out that the weather is still not satisfactory for perfect hunting.

While many hunters obtained the limit in rabbits and pheasants last Friday and Saturday, many others went home without all the game they were permitted to take. The first two days of the season were too warm. Another factor was the ammunition shortage. Many hunters went into the field with as few as four shells. Others seemed to have plenty of ammunition.

State conservation department issued another appeal Monday to hunters who have sufficient ammunition to share as many shells as possible with farmer friends and with service men home on furlough. A plea was also voiced to hunters to stay out of unharvested soybean fields.

Frantic efforts on the part of hunters who had no shells left over from last year prevailed several weeks prior to the opening of the hunting season and caused all kinds of misunderstanding.

Many hunters blamed the dealers, many blamed the conservation department and some dealers blamed wholesale houses. In time some ammunition found its way to dealers' shelves, but the War Production Board's release of ammunition naturally would not have satisfied complete demands had the release been made in time.

Joe Peters, Walnut township, who suffered a serious foot injury when his shotgun discharged accidentally, is resting well in Grant hospital, Columbus. Friends said Monday that it is hoped his foot can be saved.

Another hunter, Theodore Blackwell, of New Albany, was hurt in the local field, part of his left hand being shot away when his gun discharged as he was going through a fence.

Forrest R. Woods, Rosewood avenue, told police Saturday evening that his H and R double barreled hammer shotgun had been stolen from his automobile Saturday afternoon. The theft took place near Tarleton when Woods was hunting.

Woods told police that his son-in-law had hunted with the gun and had returned it to the automobile. He left the car for a while and when he returned the gun was gone.

As we listened to the broadcast of the Ohio State-Michigan football game Saturday, we reflected on the fate which brought together two of football's outstanding gentlemen and coaches, Paul Brown of Ohio State and Fritz Crisler of Michigan, under such widely-contrasted circumstances. For Paul Brown the game marked the end of his worst football season from the standpoint of games won and lost, the Buckeyes winning only three games. But for Fritz Crisler the game brought a share in the Big Ten title and a new scoring record for Crisler-coached teams; the 1943 Wolverines scored 302 points, more than any previous Crisler-coached team. By the way, we hope someday to see a game as "thrilling" as a radio announcer's description of the average game.

ORDINANCE NO. 4854
AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO, BY AND WITH THE APPROVAL AND DIRECTION OF THE BOARD OF CONTROL OF SAID CITY, TO CONTRACT WITH COLUMBUS AND SOUTHERN OHIO ELECTRIC COMPANY, OF COLUMBUS, OHIO, FOR FURNISHING ELECTRICAL ENERGY BY SAID COLUMBUS AND SOUTHERN OHIO ELECTRIC COMPANY TO SAID CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO, FOR OPERATION OF MACHINERY IN ITS SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, STATE OF OHIO: SECTION 1. That the Director of Public Service of the City of Cincinnati, Pickaway County, Ohio, by and with the approval and direction of the Board of Control of said City, be and is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to enter into a contract with Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, an Ohio Corporation (with its principal office in Columbus, Ohio), for furnishing electrical energy by said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company to said City of Cincinnati, Ohio, for operation of machinery in its sewage disposal plant, for a period of five years.

Said contract shall be in the following words, figures and form: CONTRACT FOR FURNISHING ELECTRICAL ENERGY TO THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO, FOR OPERATION OF MACHINERY IN ITS SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT.

This contract made and entered into this 19th day of November, 1943, by and between the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company (hereinafter called the "Company") and the City of Cincinnati, Pickaway County, Ohio, (hereinafter called the "Consumer"), witnesseseth:

That, for and in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements hereinafter contained, the parties hereto agree with each other as follows:

A. The Company agrees to furnish to the Consumer during the term of this contract and the Consumer agrees to take from the Company at the place of delivery, located at the sewage disposal plant of said City of Cincinnati, Ohio, all electrical energy of the character specified herein that shall be required by the Consumer to be used in the operation of machinery in its sewage disposal plant.

B. The Company is to furnish and the Consumer is to take electrical energy under the terms of this contract for a period of five years, beginning on the 20th day of December, 1943, and ending on the 20th day of December, 1948.

C. The electrical energy delivered hereunder shall be in the form of approximately 40 cycles, three phase, alternating current as a pressure of approximately 2300 volts and shall be delivered at the point hereinabove specified at a reasonably close maintenance of constant potential and frequency.

D. The Company hereby reserves and the Consumer hereby contracts for a capacity of 10 K. W. Should the Consumer's maximum K. W. demand at anytime exceed the capacity hereinabove set forth or hereafter agreed upon, thereby necessitating an increase of the capacity reserved by the Company and should it become necessary to change the point of delivery hereinafter specified, then, in either event, the Company will make the change necessary therefor in accordance with its standard terms and conditions provided, however, that the Company shall have a reasonable time in which to make any such change; and provided further, that the Company may before making such change require the Consumer to supplement this contract, either by rider attached thereto or by the execution of a new contract embodying therein a provision for such increased capacity or for such change in delivery point.

E. The electrical energy used by the Consumer shall be measured by a meter or meters installed and owned by the Company, and the Consumer monthly for such energy in accordance with bills rendered therefor and computed in accordance with the rates, terms and conditions set forth in Schedule C-P-2-1, Original Sheet No. 67 of the Company's tariffs on file with the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, supplements thereto and revisions thereof.

F. The Company will use reasonable diligence in furnishing a regular and uninterrupted supply of electrical energy, but in case such supply should be interrupted or fail by reason of an act of God, public enemy, accidents, strikes, legal process, State of Municipal interference, extraordinary repairs, break-downs or injury to the machinery or distributing lines of the Company or to the machinery or distributing lines of any central station furnishing electrical energy to the Company or for any other reason beyond its control, the Company shall not be liable for damages to the Consumer because of such interruption or failure.

G. The Company shall not be liable to the Consumer for any loss, injury or damage resulting from the Consumer's use of the energy furnished by the Company or from the connection of the Company's wires with the Consumer's wires and appliances.

H. The Consumer agrees that the properly authorized agents of the Company shall have free access at all reasonable hours to the Consumer's premises for the purpose of installing, reading, testing, examining, repairing and removing meters, or other appliances or property of the Company, it is further agreed that at the termination of this contract the Company shall have like access to the Consumer's premises for the purpose of removing its property therefrom.

I. If the Consumer should make default in the payment of any bill as aforesaid, or shall violate any of the terms or conditions of this contract, and after such default or violation the Consumer should give the Consumer written notice of its intention to cut off the supply of electrical energy on account of said default or violation, then the Company shall have the right to cut off such supply at the expiration of five days after giving such notice, unless within such five days the Consumer shall make good such default or violation. Should the Consumer continue in default or violation after service has been discontinued, the Company may continue to withhold the supply of electrical energy until such time as such default in, or violation of, the terms of this contract has been made good. In the event service is suspended by the Company for any of the reasons contained in this paragraph, such suspension of service shall not terminate this contract.

J. The Consumer shall grant to the Company practical and convenient locations and rights of way on or over property owned or controlled by the Consumer for transmission lines and accessory equipment required for furnishing the service provided for herein.

K. This contract shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, their respective successors and assigns.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, has caused its corporate name to be signed hereto by its President and its corporate seal to be hereto affixed, attested by its Secretary on the day and year first above written; and the City of Cincinnati, State of Ohio, has caused to be hereunto affixed its corporate name and seal by its Director of Public Service on the day and year first above written, all of the above being duly authorized in the premises.

EDDIE TOOTLE FINED, SENTENCED TO JAIL

Eddie Tootle, 30, was fined $200 and costs and sentenced to 90 days in the county jail Saturday by Squire B. T. Hedges on a charge of having immoral relations with Mrs. Carrie Bates Robinson, Circleville. A similar charge has been put against the Robinson woman by Sheriff Charles Radcliff. Her hearing will be conducted Monday. Tootle and Mrs. Robinson were taken into custody last week in a Deer Creek township house for questioning in robbery of the home of Heber Aler, who lives near where they were staying. Numerous items were taken from the Aler home.

OPA Outlines Steps Necessary To Obtain Shoes For Youngsters

One of the complaints most frequently registered with the local ration boards is that parents have difficulty keeping their children in shoes under present rationing regulations.

Answering this complaint, OPA District Director Harry T. Beckmann today reminded parents that shoe stamps are interchangeable and that any ration book in the family may be used to buy children's shoes so long as the stamps are not removed from the book until purchases are made. Dealers will not accept loose stamps.

Furthermore, if the family has used all its shoe stamps and still is in need of a pair of shoes, they should go to their local War Price and Rationing Board and state their case when they will be given a form to fill out which will enable them to obtain the extra pair of shoes.

In making this rule, OPA tried to recognize the fact that the shoe needs of individual families vary a great deal and to meet unusual situations without upsetting the shoe rationing program.

Stove Allotments

A fifty percent increase in the allowable inventory of coal, wood and gas cooking stoves was announced by the Washington Office of Price Administration. Applications for the increased inventories by dealers are to be made to the local War Price and Rationing Boards.

Local boards will advise the dis-

HUNTERS RETURN TO FIELDS IN QUEST OF GAME

Circleville district hunters returned to the field Monday in quest of rabbits and pheasants with slightly cooler weather prevailing. However, veteran nimrods pointed out that the weather is still not satisfactory for perfect hunting.

While many hunters obtained the limit in rabbits and pheasants last Friday and Saturday, many others went home without all the game they were permitted to take. The first two days of the season were too warm. Another factor was the ammunition shortage. Many hunters went into the field with as few as four shells. Others seemed to have plenty of ammunition.

State conservation department issued another appeal Monday to hunters who have sufficient ammunition to share as many shells as possible with farmer friends and with service men home on furlough. A plea was also voiced to hunters to stay out of unharvested soybean fields.

Frantic efforts on the part of hunters who had no shells left over from last year prevailed several weeks prior to the opening of the hunting season and caused all kinds of misunderstanding.

Many hunters blamed the dealers, many blamed the conservation department and some dealers blamed wholesale houses. In time some ammunition found its way to dealers' shelves, but the War Production Board's release of ammunition naturally would not have satisfied complete demands had the release been made in time.

Joe Peters, Walnut township, who suffered a serious foot injury when his shotgun discharged accidentally, is resting well in Grant hospital, Columbus. Friends said Monday that it is hoped his foot can be saved.

Another hunter, Theodore Blackwell, of New Albany, was hurt in the local field, part of his left hand being shot away when his gun discharged as he was going through a fence.

Forrest R. Woods, Rosewood avenue told police Saturday evening that his H and R double barreled hammer shotgun had been stolen from his automobile Saturday afternoon. The theft took place near Tarlton when Woods was hunting.

Woods told police that his son-in-law had hunted with the gun and had returned it to the automobile. He left the car for a while and when he returned the gun was gone.

Rationing Reminders

C-bookholders must have their tires inspected every three months. The next deadline is November 30. A-gasoline bookholders began using their A-9 coupons November 22, and are good through January 21.

Period 2 and 3 fuel oil coupons become valid November 30 for 10 gallons per unit. They expire February 8 and March 14, respectively. With the expiration of X, Y and Z blue stamps in War Ration Book Two you may discard the cover.

It's Butchering Time!

From Thanksgiving to Christmas, in almost every rural community, the butchering season is at its height, and in order to expedite the movement of a bumper pork crop from the market to the consumer's table, federal regulations on farm slaughtered pork and lard have been relaxed by the War Food Administration and OPA has reduced the ration value on pork two points.

To the consumer this means that if he has been giving up ten points for pork chops, ham and tenderloins, he will now be able to get them for eight points. Some of the cheaper cuts that formerly required only two points will be ration-free.

This point value change does not reduce the ration value of lard or of sausages that are not made entirely from pork. Neither does it reduce the point value of canned meat, even though they are made entirely from pork.

OPA officials warned that this reduction is only temporary. After the movement of the present bumper hog crop, it may be necessary to restore the point values to the higher level.

Fuel Oil Consumption

As of Monday, November 22, consumers in this locality should have used not more than 13 percent of their total yearly fuel oil ration, according to the OPA report.

This percentage shows the maximum amount of the heating ration which should have been burned, actual consumption should be a good deal less. If the ration is being burned at this maximum rate, no reserve supply will be available to meet possible spells of unusually cold weather. To provide for these events, householders should have as much as possible of their ration, in other words, the percentage consumed should be smaller, if possible, than the OPA maximum figure.

We wonder what the owner of a Dodge dump truck said after receiving a certain letter from a WPB "expert". It seems that this truck owner had damaged the transmission of his truck so that it wouldn't run. He applied to the WPB for a permit to buy another transmission, either new or used. The reply from the WPB was "the best advice we can offer is that you'll just have to run your truck without a transmission".

As we listened to the broadcast of the Ohio State-Michigan football game Saturday, we reflected on the fate which brought together two of football's outstanding gentlemen and coaches, Paul Brown of Ohio State and Fritz Crisler of Michigan, under such widely contrasted circumstances. For Paul Brown the game marked the end of his worst football season from the standpoint of games won and lost, the Buckeyes winning only three games. But for Fritz Crisler the game brought a share in the Big Ten title and a new scoring record for Crisler-coached teams; the 1943 Wolverines scored 302 points, more than any previous Crisler-coached team. By the way, we hope someday to see a game as "thrilling" as a radio announcer's description of the average game.

ORDINANCE NO. 4654
AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO, BY AND WITH THE APPROVAL AND DIRECTION OF THE BOARD OF CONTROL OF SAID CITY, TO CONTRACT WITH COLUMBUS AND SOUTHERN OHIO ELECTRIC COMPANY, OF COLUMBUS, OHIO, FOR FURNISHING ELECTRICAL ENERGY TO THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, FOR OPERATION OF MACHINERY IN ITS SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, STATE OF OHIO: That the Director of Public Service of the City of Circleville, Pickaway County, Ohio, be and is hereby authorized, empowered and directed to enter into a contract with Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, an Ohio Corporation (with its principal office in Columbus, Ohio), for furnishing electrical energy to the City of Circleville, Ohio, for operation of machinery in its sewage disposal plant, for a period of five years.

Said contract shall be in the following words, figures and form: CONTRACT FOR FURNISHING ELECTRICAL ENERGY TO THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, FOR OPERATION OF MACHINERY IN ITS SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT.

This contract made and entered into this 19th day of November, 1943, by and between the City of Circleville, Ohio, hereinafter called the "City," and the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, hereinafter called the "Company," and the City of Circleville, Pickaway County, Ohio, hereinafter called the "Consumer," witnesseth:

That, for and in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements hereinafter contained, the parties hereto agree with each other as follows:

A. The Company agrees to furnish to the Consumer during the term of this contract and the Consumer agrees to take from the Company at the point of delivery, located at the sewage disposal plant of said City of Circleville, Ohio, all the electrical energy of the character specified herein, which shall be required by the Consumer to be used in the operation of machinery in its sewage disposal plant.

B. The Company is to furnish and the Consumer is to take electrical energy under the terms of this contract for a period of five years, beginning on the 20th day of December, 1943, and ending on the 20th day of December, 1948.

C. The electrical energy delivered hereunder shall be in the form of approximately 60 cycles, three phase, alternating current, at a pressure of approximately 2300 volts and shall be delivered at the point hereinabove specified at a reasonably close maintenance of constant potential and frequency.

D. The Company hereby reserves and the Consumer hereby contracts for a capacity of 10 K. W. Should the Consumer's maximum K. W. demand at anytime exceed the capacity hereinabove set forth or hereafter agreed upon, thereby necessitating an increase of the capacity reserved by the Company and contracted for by the Consumer, or should it become necessary to change the point of delivery hereinabove specified, then, in either event, the Company will make the change necessary therefor in accordance with its standard terms and conditions as provided, however, that the Company shall have a reasonable time in which to make such change; and provided further, that the Company may before making such change require the Consumer to supplement this contract, either by rider attached thereto or by the execution of a new contract, embodying therein a provision for such change in delivery point.

E. The electrical energy used by the Consumer shall be measured by a meter or meters installed and owned by the Company, and the Consumer agrees to pay the Company monthly for such energy in accordance with bills rendered herefor and computed in accordance with the rates, terms and conditions set forth in Schedule C-2-2-1, Original Sheet No. 67 of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio, supplements thereto and revisions thereof.

F. The Company will use reasonable diligence in furnishing a regular and uninterrupted supply of electrical energy, but in case such supply should be interrupted or fail by reason of an act of God, public enemy, accidents, strikes, legal process, State of Municipal interference, extraordinary repairs, break-downs or injury to the machinery or distributing lines of the Company or to the machinery or distributing lines of any central station furnishing electrical energy to the Company or for any other reason beyond its control, the Company shall not be liable for damages to the Consumer because of such interruption or failure.

G. The Company shall not be liable to the Consumer for any loss, injury or damage resulting from the Consumer's use of the energy furnished by the Company or from the connection of the Company's wires with the Consumer's wires and appliances.

H. The Consumer agrees that the Company shall have free access at all reasonable hours to the Consumer's premises for the purpose of installing, reading, testing, examining, repairing and removing meters, or other appliances or property of the Company. It is further agreed that at the termination of this contract the Company shall have access to the Consumer's premises for the purpose of removing its property therefrom.

I. If the Consumer should make default in the payment of any bill as aforesaid, or shall violate any of the terms or conditions of this contract, or should default or violate the Company's written notice of its intention to cut off the supply of electrical energy on account of said default or violation, then the Company shall have the right to cut off such supply at the expiration of five days after giving such notice, unless within such five days the Consumer shall make good such default or violation. Should the Consumer continue in default or violation after service has been discontinued, the Company may continue to withhold the supply of electrical energy until such time as such default, in, or violation of, the terms of this contract has been made good. In the event service is suspended by the Company for any of the reasons contained in this paragraph, such suspension of service shall not terminate this contract.

J. The Consumer shall grant to the Company practical and convenient locations and rights of way on or over property owned or controlled by the Consumer for transmission lines, and accessory equipment required for furnishing the service provided for herein.

K. This contract shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, their respective successors and assigns.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, has caused its corporate name to be signed hereto by its President and its corporate seal to be hereto affixed, attested by its Secretary on the day and year first above written; and the City of Circleville, State of Ohio, has caused to be hereunto affixed its corporate name and seal by its Director of Public Service on the day and year first above written, all of the above being duly authorized in the premises.

YOUTH KEEPS BODY IN CAR FOR SIX HOURS

been on a three month probation period during the summer after an automobile theft. The probation period had ended.

Sheriff Radcliff said that the girl's father had tried to keep the Hawkins youth away from the home, that he had driven him away several times. The girl's mother has been dead for some years.

Investigation of the strange case got under way shortly after authorities were called to the Zimmerman home. Young Hawkins was taken into custody at that time.

The sheriff said he was "too dopey" for full questioning Sunday night, but that a rigid questioning would be conducted Monday. Radcliff intended to wait until Sheriff William Icenhower of Washington C. H. arrives to aid in the questioning.

Doctor Called

After Hawkins took the girl to the Zimmerman home Dr. M. D. Gamble of Williamsport was called to the residence, but his efforts to revive her were futile.

The Zimmerman girl's school attendance during the last several weeks was being studied by school authorities. Warren Hobbie, Perry township superintendent, reported to the county office the latter part of last week that something should be done. The girl had been attending school only a small part of the time.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Atlanta Methodist church, the Rev. V. C. Stump officiating, with burial in Gamble cemetery, Fayette county, beside her mother.

Survivors in addition to the father are four sisters, Grace and Dorothy at home, Mrs. Hazel Shaw and Mrs. Opal George, and three brothers, Glenn, who is in the army in England, and Robert and Paul at home.

Participating in Sunday night's investigation in addition to Dr. Heffner and Acting Coroner Hedges were Deputy Sheriff Vern Pontius and Prosecutor George E. Gerhardt.

pration, so like Al Capone, they went out and got it," he declared.

Boren predicted that the house would pass the CCC bill with its subsidy ban and then "have the votes to override a presidential veto."

His bill to kill OPA will be offered, he said, if congress reaches a final compromise continuing the CCC with some modified consumer program, as expected on both sides of the house.

Decision Near

The long battle over subsidies, tied closely to the executive deliberations over the railroad wage increase, neared its determination after two full days of general debate. Administration leaders in the house conceded adoption of the subsidy ban and expected the "real test" to come after the measure has gone to the White House.

The house consensus was that President Roosevelt would veto the bill, despite a warning from Rep. Monroney (D) Okla., that the chief executive might abandon his "hold the line" policy on wages under such a "mandate" from congress and sign the measure.

Anti-subsidy Democrats swung strongly to the side of Republicans in the house in the closing debate on the bill. Many bolted the administration line in revolt against the newly announced flour subsidy.

But the bloc of staunch pro-subsidy Democrats, led by Rep. Patman (D) Tex., contending that an end to subsidies would spell immediate inflation, were prepared to fight the CCC prohibition to the last roll call.

Do you feel tired—listless?	<input type="checkbox"/>	YES	<input type="checkbox"/>	NO

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

OPA APPROVES APPOINTMENTS TO PRICE PANEL

State OPA today notified the Pickaway county War Price and Rationing office that it has approved appointment of Elliott White, Harry Graef and Miller M. Fissell as three additional members of the local price panel.

Appointment of the trio was announced two weeks ago, the three being certified Monday as new members of the board.

The appointees boost the price panel membership to seven persons, other members being Harry Sohn, Harold Deffenbaugh, Cornell Copeland, and J. Donald Mason, the latter being price adviser.

While the recently-increased price panel has not yet had a meeting, a session will be conducted soon at which time its duties will be worked out. The price panel will soon be the most important unit in the OPA rationing set up, state officials point out.

Mr. White is manager of the Atlantic and Pacific store, Mr. Graef is Firestone store manager, and Mr. Fissell is connected with his father, A. E. Fissell, in operation of the Caddy Miller store.

Charles Finch, alias Donald Eugene Carson, will be taken from the Connersville, Ind., county jail November 30 to Michigan City, Ind., where he will be lodged in the state penitentiary until next April 10. Finch is scheduled to die April 10 for the murder of Joseph Schoenfeld, 69-year-old Connersville farmer, of whose murder he was convicted of last week. Schoenfeld was killed in 1938.

Finch was convicted a week ago and sentence was passed by Circuit Judge Golden who presided at his trial.

The murdered was unmasked by Sheriff Charles Radcliff when he was held here for failure to provide for a Williamsport woman whom he had bigamously married. Finch was revealed in Indiana to have had several other wives, marrying several times without having obtained divorce from any of the women. His fingerprints, taken by Deputy Vern Pontius and checked by the FBI, disclosed him to be the man wanted for the Schoenfeld murder.

"What Do You Mean—Tank Town?"

Why, it's the Detroit (Chrysler) Tank Arsenal where U. S. Army tanks are made.

Some have called it the tank capital of the world.

Started and finished on farmland in the fall and winter of 1940-'41. It was going strong many months before we got into the war.

It doubled and redoubled its production—time and time again.

In Parliament—The voice of Winston Churchill is a Tank Town echo as he says of Rommel and the tanks: "The Lees and the Grants stopped him at El Alamein. The Sher-mans defeated him."

In Africa—Their rumble of attack on the African deserts, and their clatter of victory in the streets of Tunis and Bizerte hark back to the scene of their making: Tank Town, U.S.A.

On the Italian Beaches—They fought their way through beaches and dunes to Salerno, where the flowers that draped them in victory became a far distant Tank Town ceremony.

On the Road to Rome—The roads to Rome became Tank Town highways as the giant Sherman advance on pavements laid by Roman emperors over 2,000 years ago.

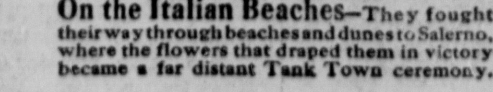

Its main street is all indoors—a multi-lane manufacturing highway, down through the vast arsenal building.

Its freight depot sees the big boys loaded on their flatcars—en route eventually to worldwide battlefronts.

Its schools, hospital, restaurants, police force, testing tracks—all serve Tank Town and its hustling army and civilian population as it works night and day.

The TANK TOWN story is now being told in Action, the world over. It is a story of production skill and effort at home and fighting ability and stamina abroad.

YOUTH KEEPS BODY IN CAR FOR SIX HOURS

been on a three month probation period during the Summer after an automobile theft. The probation period had ended.

Sheriff Radcliff said that the girl's father had tried to keep the Hawkins youth away from the home, that he had driven him away several times. The girl's mother has been dead for some years.

Investigation of the strange case got under way shortly after authorities were called to the Zimmerman home. Young Hawkins was taken into custody at that time.

The sheriff said he was "too dopey" for full questioning Sunday night, but that a rigid questioning would be conducted Monday. Radcliff intended to wait until Sheriff William Icenhower of Washington C. H. arrives to aid in the questioning.

Doctor Called

After Hawkins took the girl to the Zimmerman home Dr. M. D. Gamble of Williamsport was called to the residence, but his efforts to revive her were futile.

The Zimmerman girl's school attendance during the last several weeks was being studied by school authorities. Warren Hobbie, Perry township superintendent, reported to the county office the latter part of last week that something should be done. The girl had been attending school only a small part of the time.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. in the Atlanta Methodist church, the Rev. V. C. Stump officiating, with burial in Gamble cemetery, Fayette county, beside her mother.

Survivors in addition to the father are four sisters, Grace and Dorothy at home, Mrs. Hazel Shaw and Mrs. Opal George, and three brothers, Glenn, who is in the army in England, and Robert and Paul at home.

Participating in Sunday night's investigation in addition to Dr. Heffner and Acting Coroner Hughes were Deputy Sheriff Vern Pontius and Prosecutor George E. Gerhardt.

prison, so like Al Capone, they went out and got it," he declared.

Boren predicted that the house would pass the CCC bill with its subsidy ban and then "have the votes to override a presidential veto."

Hill said to kill OPA will be offered, he said, if congress reaches a final compromise continuing the CCC with some modified consumer program, as expected on both sides of the house.

Decision Near

The long battle over subsidies, tied closely to the executive deliberations over the railroad wage increase, neared its determination after two full days of general debate. Administration leaders in the house conceded adoption of the subsidy ban and expected the "real test" to come after the measure has gone to the White House.

The house consensus was that President Roosevelt would veto the bill, despite a warning from Rep. Monroney (D) Okla., that the chief executive might abandon his "hold the line" policy on wages under such a "mandate" from congress and sign the measure.

Anti-subsidy Democrats swung strongly to the side of Republicans in the house in the closing debate on the bill. Many bolted the administration line in revolt against the newly announced flour subsidy.

But the bloc of staunch pro-subsidy Democrats, led by Rep. Patman (D) Tex., contending that an end to subsidies would spell immediate inflation, were prepared to fight the CCC prohibition to the last roll call.

HEALTH QUIZ

Do you have poor digestion? ☐ YES ☐ NO
Do you feel headachy after eating? ☐
Do you get sour or upset easily? ☐
Do you feel tired—listless? ☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails—your food may remain undigested—lie sour and heavy in your digestive tract.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's aid digestion after Nature's own order, when taken as directed. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—at any drugstore—only 25¢. You will be glad you did.

Shortly before this announcement, the Nazi-controlled Paris radio told of reports from Algiers in Spain that an important Allied convoy had passed Gibraltar on Friday.

Though weather conditions hampered the ground troops, American airmen were actively supporting the slowly advancing forces and smashing at vital installations behind the enemy's lines. Enemy shipping and the harbor area at Civitavecchia, as well as Nazi railway lines and warehouses, were hammered by Marauders.

Another group of these planes, with a Lightning fighter escort, raided the railway yards at Chiusi, midway on the Rome-Florence line. Direct hits were scored on warehouses, stations and rolling stock.

OPA APPROVES APPOINTMENTS TO PRICE PANEL

State OPA today notified the Pickaway county War Price and Rationing office that it has approved appointment of Elliott White, Harry Graef and Miller M. Fissell as three additional members of the local price panel.

Appointment of the trio was announced two weeks ago, the three being certified Monday as new members of the board.

The appointees boost the price panel membership to seven persons, other members being Harry Sohn, Harold Defenbaugh, Cornell Copeland, and J. Donald Mason, the latter being price adviser.

While the recently-increased price panel has not yet had a meeting, a session will be conducted soon at which time its duties will be worked out. The price panel will soon be the most important unit in the OPA rationing set up, state officials point out.

Mr. White is manager of the Atlantic and Pacific store, Mr. Graef is Firestone store manager, and Mr. Fissell is connected with his father, A. E. Fissell, in operation of the Caddy Miller store.

HOMEcoming

IS there any better fun than having a young friend come back from camp, looking like at least a billion dollars in his freshly pressed uniform, and standing so tall, and moving so lithely and vigorously, and carrying so well his added fifteen pounds? And watching him eat up so cheerfully all the family's brown points for the next week—and how glad they are to have him do it!—and hearing him tell all about the fighting forces and their training and what they are going to do with it if ever they get in shooting distance of the enemy? And all about what he and his pals are going to do to this old world after the war is over? They'll "mold it nearer to the heart's desire" or know the reason why.

Even the parting is heartened by the firm handclasp and the last wise-crack and the gay assurance that if they'll just give him a chance he and another chap will lick the Japs unaided!

And God be with them till we meet again.

LIFE UNDER THE NAZIS

WHAT life is like under the Nazis is clearly shown by a Russian report from Smolensk, which was under German control for two years.

In that time 135,000 civilians and captives were killed in the province of which the city is the capital. Hundreds of tons of steel were taken from the buildings, and shipped back to Germany. The electric power station and the city's chief bridge were blown up. The library was destroyed, and with it 646,000 books. Many churches were destroyed or damaged, including two that dated back to the tenth century.

After the war many Germans who did not do these things themselves will wonder why Germans are not popular.

OLD CALLING CARDS

OF all useless things to keep, old calling cards seem at first thought the most worthless. As with other things, however, age makes a difference. The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, which has mouth-watering rarities in all branches of art, has now selected for display, out of all its possible treasures, a scrapbook containing European calling cards of the 18th and 19th centuries.

The family card-tray, containing visitors' offerings, is generally cleaned out soon. Considering the value which the Metropolitan Museum sets on old calling cards, maybe they might be worth saving for a couple of centuries. They might then pay for a new plane.

If we ever do get this world to operating normally, won't we get bored and start kicking it to pieces again?

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

PREPARING FOR OVERTHROW

WASHINGTON — Mr. Dooley said the supreme court always follows the election returns, and it looks as if the British government has taken a tip from Mr. Dooley. Already they are maneuvering with U. S. Republicans in case Roosevelt should not be re-elected.

That is the interpretation placed upon an unpublished episode which took place in London while the five flying senators were there. Of the five, three were Democrats, two Republicans. But Brendan Bracken, British minister of information, especially invited the two Republicans to dinner—Senator Brewster of Maine and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. The three Democratic senators were not invited.

Since Bracken is not only a member of the cabinet but one of Winston Churchill's very close friends, this in itself looked significant. More significant was the conversation which followed.

Only other guest was Bruce Lockhart, author of "British Agent" and now British attache in Moscow. During the early part of the dinner, the two Englishmen talked chiefly of the importance of the war in the Far East and how the British were planning a vigorous campaign against Japan after Germany was licked. Conclusion of the 5-hour-long evening was devoted to this highly significant thesis, expounded by Bracken:

"President Roosevelt has been a great leader and we have worked in splendid cooperation with him. But should the Republicans come into power in 1944, we could do business just as easily with you."

After it was over, Maine's Senator Brewster went back to the hotel room he shared with New York's Democratic Senator Jim Mead.

"You'd better tip off your boss in the White House about his fickle friends, the British," advised Brewster.

Senator Mead has not yet been able to see his boss in the White House, so has not yet reported. However, Brewster gave his own frank opinion of the matter to Sir Gerald Campbell, high-ranking official of the British embassy in charge of public relations.

Meeting Sir Gerald in Portland, Maine, Brewster pulled no punches in expressing disapproval of any British policy of trying to play up to one political party or the other.

"I want you to know," he said, "that I am an American before I am a Republican."

NOTE: Since then, Senator Brewster has been invited to the British embassy for dinner—for the first time in many years. British embassy dinner invitations long were more coveted by the Washington upper crust than invitations to the White House.

JOB CONFUSION

It's an old story in Washington that an official's wife can't keep abreast of her husband's bureaucratic reorganizations. But it is something of a new story when the officials themselves get lost in the labyrinth.

C. B. ("Beany") Baldwin resigned as farm security administrator to become "area director for economic operation in Italy." Cordell Hull himself asked Baldwin to take the job, so he naturally thought he also employed as an OPA consultant.

After bitter criticism from members of the congressional committee, Seif severed his connections with OPA and returned to England.

● SOME WASHINGTON MEDICOS are criticizing the practice of a few of their colleagues who write milk "prescriptions" authorizing dairies to give preference to certain customers if faced with inadequate supplies for all.

Condemning the action as unethical and apt to provoke a milk panic, these physicians contend moreover that it is unnecessary even from the standpoint of sick people and infants. All nutritional elements supplied by milk, they argue, can be obtained from other sources.

"As far as dairy products are concerned, they are non-essential," one eminent pediatrician, who asked that his name be withheld, explained. "The familiar soy bean, with the addition of some easily obtainable vitamins, produces a perfect food easier and cheaper than it can be obtained from the cow."

The above-mentioned gentleman predicted, in short, a world without cows.

Already there are rumblings in congress. Harold L. Roach, vice president of the American Soy Bean Association, hitting at discriminatory tax measures which, he said, insure the popularity of dairy products, urged the house agriculture committee to "let the cow stand on its own feet against the soy bean."

● JIM WATSON spent 40 years in house and senate representing Indiana. Jim was and is known as a greeter, never failing to call a man—or woman—by first name. But he slipped once.

While Phil LaFollette of the Wisconsin LaFollettes was governor of the Badger state he went to Indianapolis to address the junior Chamber of Commerce. While being taken through the swank Columbia club, Hoosier GOP stronghold, by his host, Jack Ruckelshaus, they encountered Jim.

With his usual effusiveness Jim threw his arms around both the boys, with a hearty greeting to Ruckelshaus, who broke in with: "Senator, you know Gov. Phil LaFollette of Wisconsin—"

"Know him! Know him!" Watson interrupted. "Of course I know him. Where is he? I want to shake hands with him!"

DIET AND HEALTH

Protein Breakfast Is Best Energizer

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE SCIENTIFIC application of dietetics involves not only what is in the meal, but how much of each ingredient and when the meal is taken. During war times nutrition experts have been experimenting to find out which meal pattern will give the worker the most energy.

Leaving out the minerals and vitamins which do not concern us in this discussion—the three elementary substances in a diet are the carbohydrates, the fats and the protein.

The carbohydrates are sugars and starches and you get them mostly from vegetables, bread, sugar and fruits. The fats are in many vegetables, but the principle source is what is attached to meat, and also butter and cream. Protein is in some vegetables—peas and beans have a good deal—but vegetable protein is not easily digested or absorbed and our best source of protein is meat and milk.

Use of Different Substances

What these substances do when they get in the body is to furnish energy and replace tissue. They all do both of these to a certain extent. Any overweight person can tell you that fat is converted into tissue, and when he starves himself to reduce he burns his own fat to produce energy. But fat is a slow burner, and is not a good energizer. The question arises as to whether protein or carbohydrate is the fastest and best energizer.

Now it is important that workers in industrial plants should get energy quickly at the right time. To that end experiments have been done giving a person only one of the three ingredients at a meal and seeing how his efficiency works out.

High Protein Breakfast

In general it has been found that if the worker gets a high protein meal at breakfast he does better than under any other system. This means eggs, milk and meat rather than buckwheat cakes and syrup.

A worker eating a high protein breakfast can go from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. with hardly any feeling of fatigue. If he does the buckwheat cakes and syrup stunt he gets tired about 10 a.m.

If he wants to spare his protein reserve energy, the worker can give himself a jolt with a little quick acting and quickly absorbed carbohydrate. Many industrial plants supply mid-morning and mid-afternoon lunches. It is the secret of the efficiency of the mid-morning visit to the soda fountain.

CHAPTER "TWENTY-ONE"

SHE HAD just gotten into the office when Mr. Slade sent for her. "Hop over to the station, Miss Kinnan, and see if you can get me a drawing room on the sleeper to St. Louis for tonight. Don't take a chance on the telephone."

It was raining hard that morning and Beth had worn a beret and her old raincoat. Her silky ash hair clung to her cheeks and she couldn't have felt more bedribbled than when she went into the station and made her way, through crowds being disgorged from incoming trains, toward the ticket window.

She was edging around a family, complete with children, luggage, bird-cage and portable baby carriage, when she found her path obstructed by a gentleman who was toting two handsome calfskin bags.

"Sorry," she said, stepping aside nimbly, only to trip over the portable baby carriage, losing her balance. Down she went. Umbrella and handbag flew out of her hands. Her beret slipped over her eyes. She thought, I must look very prepossessing!

A pair of hands in neat pikskin gloves lifted her easily to her feet. Someone chuckled.

Beth said coldly, "No one is very graceful falling over a baby carriage."

"No one but you, Miss Beth Kinnan," an easy voice answered.

Beth collected her wits and got the hat out of her eyes.

"Mr. Archer! The pleasure in your voice was spontaneous. "This is the nicest thing that ever happened to me in Washington," he said, adding conviction with his warm smile. "And I've been here many times since last we met."

"Have you?" she asked, trying to tuck up her hair, which was beginning to curl winsomely under her old beret. She thought, "There are some men before whom you want to look your best, and he's one of them."

She noticed his necktie, a dark maroon against fine linen, and his rough tweed suit, the set of his hair above temples only slightly silvered.

"I sometimes thought I'd ring up Slade and perhaps be lucky enough to get you on the telephone."

"Why?" It slipped out before she was aware of it.

"I thought perhaps you'd take pity on me and dine with me."

Beth thought of all the men like Dennis Archer, who had, according to the newspaper columnists, more invitations than they could accept.

"I would have," she added, astonished at her own boldness, and then added, "I'd have liked to tell you how grateful I am for what you did for me, and how much I like Washington."

The traffic moved about them while they made a small island of two in its center.

"I'd like to hear how much you like Washington, but I don't want you to think about being grateful. Can we do it tonight?"

"Do what?" Beth asked, wondering if she had on any lipstick.

"Dine together. Look here," he said boyishly, as he got a small notebook out of his pocket. "I'll call for you wherever you say at seven and then we'll go wherever you like. Are you on?"

Beth hesitated. What would Andrea think? She didn't linger over that for very long. She hesitated a little longer, thinking that her old gray crepe was hardly gala enough, but, after a minute, she said, "I'm on. You tell me about Pennington and I'll tell you about Washington."

"Fine," he said with bells on at seven. And now where are you going?"

Beth laughed. "I'd almost forgotten. I've got to get into that string at the ticket office. I'm here to get tickets for Mr. Slade."

"That's as good a reason as any," he said, walking toward the window with her, "but I think that was just an excuse of my kindly fates. I've thought about you many times, Miss Kinnan, and wished something like this could happen. I refuse to think this meeting is a simple coincidence."

Beth gave him an arch glance from her gray eyes. "I've heard about your famous charm, Mr. Archer, and now I see it working."

"And I've only begun, Miss Kinnan."

Beth was beginning to see why Andrea had said a man like Dennis Archer was what she needed. In less than ten minutes he made her forget she was a drab girl in a rainy day outfit, made her feel that she was an attractive girl. No small miracle.

He said, "Let me get those tickets for you," and, when they were gotten, he took her back to her office in a taxi.

Just before she got there, she said, "You know Andrea is here?"

"Is she?" She couldn't tell whether he was merely polite or interested.

"She's living with me," she said—and waited.

He said, "That must be nice for both of you," and repeated for the third time that he'd call for her promptly at seven.

That day Beth took three telephone messages and garbled them, had to do over two letters, and still refused to admit that she was excited about the coming evening. A portion of her mind over which she seemed to have no coruscous control went about preparing for that evening.

At half-past four, when the office closed, she found herself taking a taxi to a little shop she knew in F street, where she bought herself a black wool dress, a two-piece affair, with little sequin butterflies marching down the front of the jacket. A dress like that called for a special hat. So, with no thought of cost, Beth allowed herself to be persuaded into buying a black velvet calot with a huge, saucy bow. And then discovered that she could have her hair and nails done and be home in time to get into her new finery before Dennis came.

What would happen when Andrea discovered that Beth was going to dine with Dennis was a crisis that she decided to meet when the time came.

She hoped that Andrea would be dating Harry Cole, or spending the evening with Eunice, but Andrea was not.

She burst in on Beth at the moment when Beth was darkening her brows with an eyebrow pencil, a towel over her shoulders of her new frock.

"Well!" Andrea stood in the doorway, wearing her bathrobe, preparing, Beth saw with relief, for a sojourn in the tub. "What goes on here? Dating J. Edgar Hoover, or who? You look scrumptious, gal!"

Beth got a grip on herself. "I'm dining with Dennis Archer," she said. "I met him today."

"Dennis! Beth! No! He's coming here? But dining here?"

"He's coming here," Beth said slowly, clearly, "to take ME to dinner."

"I'm coming, too, Beth. I'll be ready . . ."

Beth caught her by her flying skirts. "Didn't you hear me, Andy? I'm the girl with the date tonight. Not you, pet."

Andrea couldn't believe her ears. "Does he know I'm here?" she asked in a small voice.

"He does." Beth pulled her hat over the soft crown of her hair, dropped the towel and picked up her bag and gloves as the bell pealed below. "But you're not invited tonight. Goodnight, dear."

Andrea's mouth was open, but no sound came from it.

For Monday, November 22

Monday's astrological forecast holds augury of definite delays, postponements and obstacles which while disheartening and disappointing may not have an entirely defeating outcome. With sound judgment, good nature and a proper bid for the support of those in influential positions there may develop real opportunity and accomplishment of worth. Patience and perseverance may win the cause.

Those whose birthday it is may have certain opportunities and advantages even though the outlook may seem doomed to defeat, obstruction, postponement and delay. A determined effort to concentrate the forces and to enlist the cooperation of influential persons, should change the tenor of frustration into surprisingly lucrative and enduring channels. This may be through good cheer, cordiality and patience rather moribundity, gloom and a spirit of defeatism. Pleasant personality counts.

Oyster in General's Lap Breaks Ice With British

Marshall's Trick Credited With Dispersing Protocol

● WASHINGTON—Anecdotes on Gen. George C. Marshall are going the rounds in increasing numbers of late, spurred by his prominence in the global war. Here is one that comes well vouched for. It seems that during the early days of collaboration between the American and British high commands, there was much reserve, much standing on ceremony, that all disliked but didn't seem to know how to obliterate for an easy exchange of views. Marshall felt that progress was being impeded by diffidence of the medal-covered generals. So he gave a dinner party. The joint chiefs of staff committee was seated at one big table, which bore no table cloth. One of the courses was oysters baked on the half shell. Each diner was given a cotton glove, the better to handle the steaming bivalves. Marshall was seated at one end of the shining table. When he was served he pretended to fumble in applying his fork to the oyster, and flipped a half-shell across the table into the lap of a top-flight British general. That did the trick. There was general laughter, and from that moment on, so the story goes, the ice was broken and the Yanks and Limeys tossed aside protocol and got along beautifully together.

HOME COMING

IS there any better fun than having a young friend come back from camp, looking like at least a billion dollars in his freshly pressed uniform, and standing so tall, and moving so lithely and vigorously, and carrying so well his added fifteen pounds? And watching him eat up so cheerfully all the family's brown points for the next week—and how glad they are to have him do it!—and hearing him tell all about the fighting forces and their training and what they are going to do with it if ever they get in shooting distance of the enemy? And all about what he and his pals are going to do to this old world after the war is over? They'll "mold it nearer to the heart's desire" or know the reason why.

Even the parting is heartened by the firm handclasp and the last wise-crack and the gay assurance that if they'll just give him a chance he and another chap will lick the Japs unaided!

And God be with them till we meet again!

LIFE UNDER THE NAZIS

WHAT life is like under the Nazis is clearly shown by a Russian report from Smolensk, which was under German control for two years.

In that time 135,000 civilians and captives were killed in the province of which the city is the capital. Hundreds of tons of steel were taken from the buildings, and shipped back to Germany. The electric power station and the city's chief bridge were blown up. The library was destroyed, and with it 646,000 books. Many churches were destroyed or damaged, including two that dated back to the tenth century.

After the war many Germans who did not do these things themselves will wonder why Germans are not popular.

OLD CALLING CARDS

OF all useless things to keep, old calling cards seem at first thought the most worthless. As with other things, however, age makes a difference. The Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, which has mouth-watering rarities in all branches of art, has now selected for display, out of all its possible treasures, a scrapbook containing European calling cards of the 18th and 19th centuries.

The family card-tray, containing visitors' offerings, is generally cleaned out soon. Considering the value which the Metropolitan Museum sets on old calling cards, maybe they might be worth saving for a couple of centuries. They might then pay for a new plane.

If we ever do get this world to operating normally, won't we get bored and start kicking it to pieces again?

NEW FLARE-UPS in Washington about British influence on the United States rationing system includes this one—that Robert Smallwood, a top executive of England's Lipton Tea company, is a "power behind the OPA throne" as far as price policing goes.

High OPA officials assert, however, that Smallwood is merely acting in an "advisory capacity" as a consultant; working two or three days a week at OPA at the request of James Brownlee, business-chief of the organization's price department.

Nevertheless, the case calls to mind the experience of another Englishman who was called before the Boren committee of the house to tell congress about his part in forming OPA policies. He was Israel Moses Seiff, executive of a large British chain store system,

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

PREPARING FOR OVERTHROW

WASHINGTON — Mr. Dooley said the supreme court always follows the election returns, and it looks as if the British government has taken a tip from Mr. Dooley. Already they are maneuvering with U. S. Republicans in case Roosevelt should not be re-elected.

That is the interpretation placed upon an unpublished episode which took place in London while the five flying senators were there. Of the five, three were Democrats, two Republicans. But Brendan Bracken, British minister of information, especially invited the two Republicans to dinner—Senator Brewster of Maine and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts. The three Democratic senators were not invited.

Since Bracken is not only a member of the cabinet but one of Winston Churchill's very close friends, this in itself looked significant. More significant was the conversation which followed.

Only other guest was Bruce Lockhart, author of "British Agent" and now British attache in Moscow. During the early part of the dinner, the two Englishmen talked chiefly of the importance of the war in the Far East and how the British were planning a vigorous campaign against Japan after Germany was licked. Conclusion of the 5-hour-long evening was devoted to this highly significant thesis, expounded by Bracken:

"President Roosevelt has been a great leader and we have worked in splendid co-operation with him. But should the Republicans come into power in 1944, we could do business just as easily with you."

After it was over, Maine's Senator Brewster went back to the hotel room he shared with New York's Democratic Senator Jim Mead.

"You'd better tip off your boss in the White House about his fickle friends, the British," advised Brewster.

Senator Mead has not yet been able to see his boss in the White House, so has not yet reported. However, Brewster gave his own frank opinion of the matter to Sir Gerald Campbell, high-ranking official of the British embassy in charge of public relations.

Meeting Sir Gerald in Portland, Maine, Brewster pulled no punches in expressing disapproval of any British policy of trying to play up to one political party or the other.

"I want you to know," he said, "that I am an American before I am a Republican."

NOTE: Since then, Senator Brewster has been invited to the British embassy for dinner—for the first time in many years. British embassy dinner invitations long were more coveted by the Washington upper crust than invitations to the White House.

JOB CONFUSION

It's an old story in Washington that an official's wife can't keep abreast of her husband's bureaucratic reorganizations. But it is something of a new story when the officials themselves get lost in the labyrinth.

After bitter criticism from members of the congressional committee, Seiff severed his connections with OPA and returned to England.

SOME WASHINGTON MEDICOS are criticizing the practice of a few of their colleagues who write milk "prescriptions" authorizing dairies to give preference to certain customers if faced with inadequate supplies for all.

Condemning the action as unethical and apt to provoke a milk panic, these physicians contend moreover that it is unnecessary even from the standpoint of sick people and infants. All nutritional elements supplied by milk, they argue, can be obtained from other sources.

"As far as dairy products are concerned, they are non-essential," one eminent pediatrician, who asked that his name be withheld, explained. "The familiar soy bean, with the addition of some easily obtainable vitamins, produces a perfect food easier and cheaper than it can be obtained from the cow."

The above-mentioned gentleman predicted, in short, a world without cows.

Already there are rumblings in congress. Harold L. Roach, vice president of the American Soy Bean association, hitting at discriminatory tax measures which, he said, insure the popularity of dairy products, urged the house agriculture committee to "let the cow stand on its own feet against the soy bean."

JIM WATSON spent 40 years in house and senate representing Indiana. Jim was and is known as a greeter, never failing to call a man—or woman—by first name. But he slipped once.

While Phil LaFollette of the Wisconsin LaFollette was governor of the Badger state he went to Indianapolis to address the Junior Chamber of Commerce. While being taken through the swank Columbia club, Hoosier GOP stronghold, by his host, Jack Ruckelshaus, they encountered Jim.

With his usual effusiveness Jim threw his arms around both the boys, with a hearty greeting to Ruckelshaus, who broke in with: "Senator, you know Gov. Phil LaFollette of Wisconsin."

"Know him? Know him?" Watson interrupted. "Of course I know him. Where is he? I want to shake hands with him!"

DIET AND HEALTH

Protein Breakfast Is Best Energizer

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE SCIENTIFIC application of dietetics involves not only what is in the meal, but how much of each ingredient and when the meal is taken. During war times nutrition experts have been experimenting to find out which meal pattern will give the worker the most energy.

Leaving out the minerals and vitamins which do not concern us in this discussion—the three elementary substances in a diet are the carbohydrates, the fats and the protein.

The carbohydrates are sugars and starches and you get them mostly from vegetables, bread, sugar and fruits. The fats are in many vegetables, but the principle source is what is attached to meat, and also butter and cream. Protein is in some vegetables—peas and beans have a good deal—but vegetable protein is not easily digested or absorbed and our best source of protein is meat and milk.

Use of Different Substances
What these substances do when they get in the body is to furnish energy and replace tissue. They all do both of these to a certain extent. Any overweight person can tell you that fat is converted into tissue, and when he starves himself to reduce he burns his own fat to produce energy. But fat is a slow burner, and is not a good energizer. The question arises as to whether protein or carbohydrate is the fastest and best energizer.

Now it is important that workers in industrial plants should get energy quickly at the right time. To that end experiments have been done giving a person only one of the three ingredients at a meal and seeing how his efficiency works out.

High Protein Breakfast

In general it has been found that if the worker gets a high protein meal at breakfast he does better than under any other system. This means eggs, milk and meat rather than buckwheat cakes and syrup.

A worker eating a high protein breakfast can go from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. with hardly any feeling of fatigue. If he does the buckwheat cakes and syrup stunt he gets tired about 10 a.m.

If he wants to spare his protein reserve energy, the worker can give himself a jolt with a little quick acting and quickly absorbed carbohydrate. Many industrial plants supply mid-morning and mid-afternoon lunches. It is the secret of the efficiency of the mid-morning visit to the soda fountain.

Supplement with Carbohydrate
In other words, start yourself out with protein and keep it supplemented by carbohydrate during the day.

The reason the high protein meal keeps the worker up so long is fairly easy to understand. Fat, as we said, is burned slowly so a preponderantly fat meal is a sluggish, goes too fast. But the protein stays in there pitching until mid-afternoon.

These researches bring medical science close to practical life, as has been the trend for many years. If the industrial worker will follow this advice—in other words, if he really wants to attain a maximum degree of efficiency—the increase in our war effort will be evident by just so much.

Beth was beginning to see why Andrea had said a man like Dennis Archer was what she needed. In less than ten minutes he made her forget she was a drag girl in a rainy day outfit, made her feel that she was an attractive girl. No small miracle.

He said, "Let me get those tickets for you" and, when they were gotten, he took her back to her office in a taxi.

Just before she got there, she said, "You know Andrea is here?"

"Is she?" She couldn't tell whether he was merely polite or interested.

"She's living with me," she said—and waited.

He said, "That must be nice for both of you," and repeated for the third time that he'd call for her promptly at seven.

That day Beth took three telephone messages and garbled them. She had to do over two letters, and still refused to admit that she was excited about the coming evening. A portion of her mind over which she seemed to have no conscious control went about preparing for that evening.

At half-past four, when the office closed, she found herself taking a taxi to a little shop she knew in F street, where she bought herself a black wool dress, a two-piece affair, with little squiggle butterflies marching down the front of the jacket. A dress like that called for a special hat. So, with no thought of cost, Beth allowed herself to be persuaded into buying a black velvet calot with a huge, saucy bow. And then discovered that she could have her hair and nails done and be home in time to get into her new finery before Dennis came.

What would happen when Andrea discovered that Beth was going to dine with Dennis was a crisis that she decided to meet when the time came.

She hoped that Andrea would be dating Harry Cole, or spending the evening with Eunice, but Andrea was not.

She burst in on Beth at the moment when Beth was darkening her brows with an eyebrow pencil, a towel over her shoulders of her new frock.

"Well!" Andrea stood in the doorway, wearing her bathrobe, preparing Beth saw with relief, for a sojourn in the tub. "What goes on here? Dating J. Edgar Hoover, or who? You look scrumptious, gal!"

Beth got a grip on herself. "I'm dining with Dennis Archer," she said. "I met him today."

"Dennis! Beth! No! He's coming here? But, darling . . ."

"He's coming here," Beth said slowly, clearly, "to take me to dinner."

"I'm coming, too, Beth. I'll be ready . . ."

Beth caught her by her flying skirts. "Didn't you hear me, Andy? I'm the girl with the date tonight. Not you, pet."

Andrea couldn't believe her ears. "Does he know I'm here?" she asked in a small voice.

"He does," Beth pulled her hat over the soft crown of her hair, dropped the towel and picked up her bag and gloves as the bell pealed below. "But you're not invited tonight. Goodnight, dear."

Andrea's mouth was open, but no sound came from it.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, November 22

Monday's astrological forecast holds augury of definite delays, postponements and obstacles which while disheartening and disappointing may not have an entirely defeating outcome. With sound judgment, good nature and a proper bid for the support of those in influential positions there may develop real opportunity and accomplishment of worth. Patience and perseverance may win the cause.

Those whose birthday it is may have certain opportunities and advantages even though the outlook may seem doomed to defeat, obstruction, postponement and delay. A determined effort to concentrate the forces and to enlist the cooperation of influential persons, should change the tenor of frustration into surprisingly lucrative and enduring channels. This may be through good cheer, cordiality and patience rather than morbidly, gloom and a spirit of defeatism. Pleasant personality counts.

A child born on this day although studious, serious and introspective has its brighter side, with joviality, good will and kindly nature, which will contribute to its success and personal popularity and prestige.

Pomona Grange Grants Fifth Degree To Two

Dinner Served At Quarters of Scioto Unit

Mrs. Helen Kuhlwein, Scioto Valley grange, Miss Marilyn Winter and Roger Bowers, Nebraska grange, were obligated in the fifth degree Saturday at the meeting of Pomona grange in Scioto Valley grange hall, north of Ashville. Orley Judy, Saltcreek Valley grange, overseer of Pomona grange, was in the chair in the absence of Homer Reber, worthy master. One hundred and twenty-five grangers from the various units of the county were present for the Pomona session.

Masses of hardy chrysanthemums made the hall a colorful setting for the meeting. The tables were decorated with attractive Thanksgiving and Fall arrangements.

During the morning session, splendid reports of the work of the subordinate and juvenile granges were received. Resolutions of respect were read in the death of Thomas Matthews, who had been a member of Star and Pomona granges. C. E. Dick, secretary, was instructed to send Christmas cards to boys in service overseas and to sick members of the county grange. Discussions were held on legislation concerning the farmer.

During the lecture hour, Helen Wilson and Normagne Penn, Logan grange, played a piano duet, "Tea for Two"; reading, "Tales of Thanksgiving Long Past"; Miss Nellie Bolender, Washington grange; reading, "Abraham Lincoln's Thanksgiving Proclamation"; Mrs. S. E. Beers, Scioto grange; vocal solo, "Grateful, O Lord, Am I"; Mrs. Elizabeth Reber Dunkel, of Nebraska grange with Miss Wilson playing her piano accompaniment; paper, "Who Came Thanksgiving Day"; Mrs. Ira Scothorn, Scioto Valley grange, and "Thanksgiving in War Time", a talk by the Rev. C. L. Thomas of Nebraska grange.

The next meeting of Pomona grange will be in February with Nebraska grange as host.

Informal Tea Mothers of pre-school age children gathered Sunday at the home of Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, North Pickaway street, where plans for organizing a new chapter of the Child Conservation league were discussed. Mrs. Don Griggs of Junction City, president of the Southwestern District of the State Child Conservation league, was present and outlined the work expected of the new group.

Mrs. Carroll Morgan of East Main street served as temporary chairman and named Mrs. Dan McClain, Mrs. Dick Robinson and Mrs. Kirkpatrick as a nominating committee to present a slate of officers for election at the next meeting of the chapter.

Mrs. Fritz Sieverts presided at the lovely tea table from which refreshments were served. The table was centered with a bowl of yellow and white chrysanthemums, surrounded with tall yellow candles in crystal holders.

The next meeting, December 8, will be at the home of Mrs. Morgan of East Main street.

Informal Tea
Mothers of pre-school age children gathered Sunday at the home of Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, North Pickaway street, where plans for organizing a new chapter of the Child Conservation league were discussed. Mrs. Don Griggs of Junction City, president of the Southwestern District of the State Child Conservation league, was present and outlined the work expected of the new group.

Mrs. Carroll Morgan of East Main street served as temporary chairman and named Mrs. Dan McClain, Mrs. Dick Robinson and Mrs. Kirkpatrick as a nominating committee to present a slate of officers for election at the next meeting of the chapter.

Mrs. Fritz Sieverts presided at the lovely tea table from which refreshments were served. The table was centered with a bowl of yellow and white chrysanthemums, surrounded with tall yellow candles in crystal holders.

The next meeting, December 8, will be at the home of Mrs. Morgan of East Main street.

Engagement Announced
The engagement and coming marriage of Miss Barbara Clair Stollhorn to Pvt. Tom Wuichet, son of Mrs. John Wuichet of Columbus and the late Mr. Wuichet, has been announced by her parents, Major and Mrs. Adolf Stollhorn, of Ashville.

Miss Stollhorn attended the University of Michigan and is a graduate of Denison university, Granville, where she became a member of Delta Gamma sorority. At present she is a graduate student and research assistant in the bacteriology department at Ohio State university.

Pvt. Wuichet also is a graduate of Denison university, where he became a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He is stationed at the Aberdeen Proving Ground in Maryland.

Although a definite date is not being announced at present, the wedding will take place this winter.

About This And That In Many Sports

In the record book that will be passed down through the years will be a notation covering the Ohio State university gridiron record for 1943: three games won and six games lost, and the book will also report that the University of Michigan and Purdue university shared the Western Conference championship. . . . The Wolverines clinched their share Saturday with a lopsided 45-7 victory over the Bucks, and Purdue grabbed its honors 7-0 over Indiana.

But the figures: three won and six lost, will not come any where near telling the story of a bunch of 17 and 18-year-old high school boys with a sprinkling of 4-Fers in their roster who butted their brains out week after week against foes that outnumbered them tremendously in age, experience, manpower and weight. . . . A team of this type can take on a toughy once in awhile, but when that kind of a test is faced week after week then the old dusty fedora must be doffed in respect to a gallant bunch of lads and their coaches, the fellows who sent them into action every Saturday over a period of time that passed two months, knowing that they were going to take a physical whipping from which some of them might not get over so quickly.

Michigan poured it on in the Saturday game, but there wasn't anything Fritz Crisler could do about it. . . . He used the brilliant Weis until almost the end of the game, but why not? . . . Every time Crisler took out a first stringer he had another boy just as big to put into the lineup. . . . And in there all the time were Pee Brown's youngsters, never giving up, though beaten terrifically. . . . Take the case of young Bill Hackett from London. . . . That lad was Lynn Houston's sub last year, so you know how much experience he gained. . . . He weighs not more than 170 and maybe a shade shorter than that. . . . Hackett was wearing a cut across his nose and another on his forehead before the Michigan game started. . . . They were marks of previous games. . . . Offensively, he was pitted against Johnny Gallagher, a toughy who starred for Wisconsin last year, and when Michigan had the ball it was Gallagher and Handlick, another Badger star, working on Hackett. . . . Sometimes the play called for the center to block the guard, and there was Fred Negus, 205 pounds of brawn, another Wisconsin star from last year.

If ever a bunch of kids deserve all the orchids that can be piled together, it is this OSU crew.

Before long many of them will be on their way to service, numerous members of the squad now being in reserves awaiting call. . . . Some of the 4-Fers, including Willis, Appleby, Dugger and Thomas, may be around awhile longer, possibly next year to help keep football going another year. . . . Then another bunch of freshmen will be coming along to take a hammering each week. . . . Here's hoping that the powers that be do something about sending 17 and 18-year-old lads against seasoned veterans playing as marines, navy trainees and others. . . . There oughta be a law.

Paul Davis of Middletown is a juggler. . . . He tossed an orange and apple into all sorts of maneuvers on the way to Detroit Friday. . . . "Out of Our League," Brown Declares Of 45-7 Loss To Wolverines

By Gil Karp

COLUMBUS, Nov. 22—Ohio State's youthful and battered gridders today were not exactly despondent over the fact that their 1943 gridiron campaign was over.

After Saturday's severe 45-7 shellacking at the hands of powerful Michigan, the groggy Bucks were quite willing to forget football and try to think of the more pleasant things in life.

The Bucks entered the traditional fray with the Wolverines as definite underdogs, but lurking deep in the heart of Coach Paul Brown was a hoped for miracle that would upset the high-flying Wolverines.

EXPERTS DIFFER OVER STRENGTH OF ARMY, NAVY

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Seldom has such an uproar been raised over a pair of beaten or tied football teams as it has over the 1943 Army and Navy squads. Despite the painful fact that Army was thrashed by Notre Dame, tied by Penn and troubled by humble Sampson; and that Navy was also whipped by the Irish and kicked around for a few serious moments by Penn State, these teams will go into their annual clash next Saturday the focal points of national attention.

Although the contest will be staged in West Point's little Michie stadium, and attended only by those who live within a ten-mile area, hungry thousands are cursing the powers that can interfere with such a sacred function as a football game. Millions will be listening in on the game from coast to coast, already wrought up by the tremendous enthusiasm that has been growing in leaps and bounds like a snowball rolling downhill.

One of the reasons why this game has found favor lies in the fact that there are few who can truthfully state a definite conviction on either team when it comes to predicting the winner. It is surprising how the games more noted strategists are divided. Favoring Navy, among others, are Coach George Munger, of Penn, and his quarterback, Bob Odell; Coach Howie Odell of Yale; Steven Owen, of the New York Giants and Herb Kopf, the Manhattan coach without a team.

Leaning toward Army, to name a few, are Rae Crowther, Penn line coach; Jack Lavelle, Notre Dame scout, and Hunk Anderson, of the Chicago Bears. Bob Odell says Navy hits harder; practically all of the Irish say Army is tougher. Thus, an atmosphere of suspense is created which, if put to work in Yankee stadium, would attract 80,000 people.

ARTHUR GODOY WINNER

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 22—Arturo Godoy, veteran heavy-weight fighter, today held the South American championship. He knocked off Fernando Menichelli in the seventh round last night to win the title.

BOBB CASE APPEALED

The draft case of Joseph K. Eobb, Piqua, is being appealed by C. V. Thompson, Superintendent of Miami county schools. Bobb, a resident of New Holland at the time of his resignation is now principal of the Washington Local School at Piqua, Ohio. He was placed in 1A by the Pickaway draft board.

all his glory at an Alumni banquet Friday night, introduced as a captain and one of Ohio's most loyal followers. . . . And he is. . . . Renick does a swell job of acting as caretaker for wives of the coaches while the coaches are busy coaching. . . . After Stungis kicked the game-deciding placement against Illinois 10 days ago he asked Brownie if he could go see his folk in their Ohio river home town. . . . Brown's reply was: "Buddy, you can go to any place you like right now." . . . And he meant it. . . . Ernie Biggs, state trainer, takes a beating. . . . Parks, Ray Stachhouse and Dean Sensenbaur got him into a card game on the train, and Ernie finally had to run for cover. . . . He's a favorite with the boys.

Although given an opportunity to do as they wished Saturday night, only a few members of the Buckeye squad of 36 left Dearborn Inn. . . . The boys were down, and plenty, after the lopsided defeat. . . . Biggs was kept busy long after the game administering to the bumps and bruises the Bucks carried out of the game.

Ohio fans are waiting for the day now when they may return the thumping Michigan administered Saturday, and it was a honey. . . . The only thing that stopped Wolverine fans was a reminder of the Michigan-Notre Dams game which the Irish took with colors flying.

100 Percent Right

Brown was 100 percent correct when he said the Bucks were not in the same class with the Wolverines. Even without the services of Elroy "Crazy Legs" Hirsch, star Wolverine halfback and possible all-American, Michigan tore through State's defense at will throughout the one-sided contest. While an estimated crowd of 45,000 looked on in wonder, Michigan hammered the Bucks from goal post to goal post to chalk up scores in every period except the second. The heavier and more experienced Wolverines gradually wore down their pitifully outclassed opponents until it became practically a touchdown parade.

Bob Wiese, big Wolverine fullback, was the offensive star of the day. There was no stopping this big, fast and strong fullback who scored twice. Although tackled, he would pull himself loose with sheer strength which the lighter and smaller Bucks couldn't match. Ernie Parks, fast and sometimes sensational Canton freshman, provided State's solitary touchdown on a 36-yard dash to cross the double stripe standing up.

It goes without saying that Michigan was jubilant over the victory. Not only was it one of the worst defeats administered to the Bucks in the long rivalry, but it gave the Wolverines a share of the Big Ten title with Purdue.

Purdue Pressed

The Boilermakers completed an undefeated season in breathtaking manner, holding Indiana's Hoosiers for two downs on the two foot line in the last 55 seconds of their tilt and winning 7-0, before a crowd of 15,000.

In winning its ninth consecutive game, Purdue completely throttled Bob "Hunchy" Hoernsmeier, Indiana's brilliant 17-year-old freshman halfback.

A forward pass from quarterback Sam Vacanti to towering Frank Bauman with 11 seconds left in the first quarter gave the Boilermakers their only score. Vacanti hit Bauman with the bullet-like pass on the Hoosiers' 20-yard line and the speedy end dashed over standing up. Northwestern ended a successful gridiron season by walloping

EXPERTS DIFFER OVER STRENGTH OF ARMY, NAVY

NEW YORK, Nov. 22—Seldom has such an uproar been raised over a pair of beaten or tied football teams as it has over the 1943 Army and Navy squads. Despite the painful fact that Army was thrashed by Notre Dame, tied by Penn and troubled by humble Sampson; and that Navy was also whipped by the Irish and kicked around for a few serious moments by Penn State, these teams will go into their annual clash next Saturday the focal points of national attention.

Although the contest will be staged in West Point's little Michie stadium, and attended only by those who live within a ten-mile area, hungry thousands are cursing the powers that can interfere with such a sacred function as a football game. Millions will be listening in on the game from coast to coast, already wrought up by the tremendous enthusiasm that has been growing in leaps and bounds like a snowball rolling downhill.

One of the reasons why this game has found favor lies in the fact that there are few who can truthfully state a definite conviction on either team when it comes to predicting the winner. It is surprising how the games more noted strategists are divided. Favoring Navy, among others, are Coach George Munger, of Penn, and his quarterback, Bob Odell; Coach Howie Odell of Yale; Steven Owen, of the New York Giants and Herb Kopf, the Manhattan coach without a team.

Leaning toward Army, to name a few, are Rae Crowther, Penn line coach; Jack Lavelle, Notre Dame scout, and Hank Anderson, of the Chicago Bears. Bob Odell says Navy hits harder; practically all of the Irish say Army is tougher. Thus, an atmosphere of suspense is created which, if put to work in Yankee stadium, would attract 80,000 people.

ARTHUR GODOY WINNER

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 22—Arturo Godoy, veteran heavy-weight fighter, today held the South American championship. He knocked off Fernando Menichelli in the seventh round last night to win the title.

REDSKINS GAIN 21-7 EDGE OVER CHICAGO BEARS

Washington Bottles Up Great Luckman As 35,672 Watch

By International News Service

The champion Washington Redskins, victors by a 21 to 7 score, over the favored Chicago Bears, ruled the National Professional football league today as the only undefeated squad in the circuit this season.

The Redskins' victory before 35,672 fans at Griffith stadium in Washington yesterday may be a preview for the play-off for the championship at Wrigley field in Chicago December 19. A victory or a tie for the Bears against the Chicago Cardinals next Sunday will qualify the Bruins for the play-off game.

In other league games yesterday, the New York Giants whipped the Cardinals, 24 to 13, at New York's Polo grounds; the Green Bay Packers smothered the Brooklyn Dodgers, 31 to 7, in Brooklyn, and the Phil-Pitt Eagles eked out a 35 to 34 victory over the Detroit Lions at Pittsburgh.

Sid Luckman, passing ace of the Bears, celebrated a sad 27th birthday at Washington. Although he pitched his 24th touchdown pass to Ray McLean for the lone Bears' score in the last quarter and tied Cecil Isbell's record set last year, the Redskins bottled him up throughout the game. Luckman was able to complete only nine of his 23 pitches for 145 yards.

Sammy Baugh, runner-up to Luckman in touchdown passes this year, tossed his 20th of the season to Andy Farkas for the second Redskins score. The injured Baugh hobbled onto the field in the first quarter to figure in the first Redskins touchdown.

Old Statue Good

With the ball on the Bears' 40-yard line, the Chicagoans expected Baugh to pass. Instead, Wilbur Moore took the ball from Baugh on a Statue of Liberty play for the first Redskins score. George Cafego threw a scoring pass to Alex Cawse, a rookie, for the third Redskins touchdown. Bob Mastersom made three conversions for the Redskins, and Bob Snyder added one for the Bears.

Don Hutson, Packers' 105-smasher, continued to break league records at Ebbetts field before 18,992 fans as he accounted for 19 points personally and paced Green Bay to a 31 to 7 victory over the Dodgers. Hutson graded eight passes for 219 yards, replacing his old record of 209 yards gained on passes in a single game, and boosted his league-leading point total to 97.

The inimitable Packer scored two touchdowns, kicked a field goal and made four conversions for the 19 points. Other Packers' touchdowns were made by Fullback Falkenstein and Try Comp while the lone Dodge touchdown was marked up in the last period by Pug Manders with Bruiser Kinard adding the extra point.

FLYING SERGEANT
Technical Sergeant Albert Del Conte, possessor of the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Order of the Purple Heart for his participation in the Allied total bombing of Hamburg, Germany, will be the serviceman hero on Sammy Kaye's "Everybody's Inn", Wednesday, at 7 p. m. over the Columbia network.

Aboard a Flying Fortress, Sergeant Del Conte, an engineer gunner, and his crew found themselves in the midst of a Messerschmitt attack which knocked out two of their four engines and demolished their oxygen supply. A check-up by the pilot revealed sixty percent of the plane's controls were out of commission and there was small hope of their getting the shattered Flying Fortress back to England.

Though severely wounded with shrapnel pieces throughout his body, Sergeant Del Conte managed to fix the controls that not only enabled them to crash their base but to land without mishap. For this daring feat, he was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Order of the Purple Heart.

ALEC TEMPLETON
Alec Templeton offers his "Crescendo Swingphony," a satirical composition based on the program's familiar signature, on the Morton Gould "Carnival," on Wednesday, at 9:30 p. m., over station WBNS. Gould conducts the orchestra in "Alexander's Ragtime Band," swings into a pre-Thanksgiving salute in the form of "Twilight in Turkey," follows through with "All or Nothing at All" and a Stephen Foster fantasy, including "Camptown Races" and "Jeannie with the Light Brown Hair." Templeton plays and sings his own version of "Large as Foot," and improvises on a quartet of themes suggested by members of the studio audience.

DURANTE, MOORE
Jimmy Durante and Garry Moore, who have been promising to get their Friday night CBS comedy series back to New York practically since the day they arrived in Hollywood, currently estimate that they will be broadcasting from Manhattan again, beginning Friday at 9 p. m. Since this is the third date announced for their return, they're not taking it too seriously. Durante's movie commitments being what they are. Whatever the point of origin, listeners are in for half an hour of mad merriment, starting the long nosed clown and his short-haired partner, and of listenable music, starring Georgia Gibbs and Roy Barry's orchestra.

RADIO NEWS NOTES

If any of you guys and gals think you're busy with war work, just take a look at one week's schedule for Bert Lytell, emcee of "Stage Door Canteen" on CBS Friday nights and you'll feel better. Monday night Bert will serve as the narrator for the National War Fund Pageant held at Madison Square Garden and dedicated to peace lovers everywhere. 18,000 persons will witness Ben Hecht's "An Indictment of Germany." Tuesday night Lytell will be an emcee at the annual "Night of Stars," also in the Garden. Wednesday night he will put on a show as usual at the Merchant Seaman's Club. Thursday night finds him either at the Stage Door Canteen or one of the local service camps. Then, of course, on Fridays he does his "Stage Door Canteen" broadcasts with such stars as Orson Welles, Ilka Chase, Gregory Ratoff and Connie Boswell.

On the eve of Thanksgiving, the Lyn Murray Singers sing "A Hymn of Thanksgiving," a traditional Dutch hymn of gratitude, on the Lyn Murray show, which airs Wednesday, November 24, at 5:15 p. m., over CBS. "Hills of Home" is the choral opener, followed by Noel Coward's "Nevermore." Orchestral highlight is a special arrangement of a pair of Victor Herbert compositions, "Al Fresco" and "Badinage."

Not only Hollywood actresses have stand-ins! Joan Alexander, heroine of CBS' "Bright Horizon" show has a stand-in, Paula Victor, who reads with the other members of the cast during rehearsal and marks Joan's script. Joan, in the meantime is broadcasting on another radio show over another network and gets to the CBS studio just in time to do the "dress."

German defensive forces have now been driven up the Italian boot as far as the "shin", where we all hope the Allies give it to them—but good!

Wendy Barrie, of the Hollywood sound stage, will star in the fantasy, "The Gingerbread House," for the "Treasure Star Parade." Heard the week of November 21, it is the third of three weekly recordings. Miss Barrie will be supported by an all-star cast.

ORDINANCE NO. 4533
AN ORDINANCE AUTHORIZING THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO, BY AND WITH THE APPROVAL AND DIRECTION OF THE BOARD OF CONTROL OF SAID CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO, TO CONTRACT WITH COLUMBUS AND SOUTHERN OHIO ELECTRIC COMPANY, OF COLUMBUS, OHIO, FOR FURNISHING ELECTRICAL ENERGY TO SAID CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO, FOR OPERATION OF MACHINERY IN ITS HARGIS CREEK LIFT STATION OF THE CITY'S SANITARY SEWAGE SYSTEM.

SECTION 1: That the Director of Public Service of the City of Cincinnati, Pickaway County, Ohio, by and with the approval and direction of the Board of Control of said City, do hereby authorize, empower and direct to enter into a contract with Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, an Ohio Corporation (with its principal office in Columbus, Ohio), for furnishing electrical energy by said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company to said City of Cincinnati, Ohio, for operation of machinery in its Hargis Creek Lift Station of the City's Sanitary Sewage System, for a period of five years.

Said Contract shall be in the following tenor, figures and form: CONTRACT FOR FURNISHING ELECTRICAL ENERGY TO THE CITY OF CINCINNATI, OHIO, FOR OPERATION OF MACHINERY IN ITS HARGIS CREEK LIFT STATION OF THE CITY'S SANITARY SEWAGE SYSTEM.

This contract made and entered into this day of _____ 1943 by and between the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company (hereinafter called the Company) and the City of Cincinnati, Ohio (hereinafter called the Consumer), witnesses: That for and in consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements hereinafter contained, the parties hereto agree with each other as follows:

A. The Company agrees to furnish to the Consumer during the term of this contract and the Consumer agrees to take from the Company at the point of delivery, located at the Hargis Creek Lift Station of the City's Sanitary Sewage System, all the electrical energy of the character specified herein that shall be required by the Consumer to be used in the operation of machinery in its said Hargis Creek Lift Station.

B. The Company is to furnish to the Consumer the electrical energy under the terms of this contract for a period of five years, beginning on the day of December, 1943, and ending on the 25th day of December, 1948.

C. The electrical energy delivered hereunder shall be in the form of approximately 60 cycles, three phase alternating current, as a pressure of approximately 230 volts and shall be delivered at the point hereinafter specified at a reasonable, close maintenance constant potential and frequency.

D. The Company hereby reserves and the Consumer hereby contracts for a capacity of 10 H. P.

E. Should the consumer's maximum demand at any time exceed the capacity hereinafter set forth or hereinafter agreed upon, thereby making the change necessary then, in the event the Company will make the change necessary then, in accordance with its standard terms and conditions, provided, however, that the Company may before making such change require the Consumer to supplement the contract either by the attachment thereto or by the execution of a new contract, embodying therein a provision for such increased capacity or for such change in delivery point.

F. The electrical energy used by the Consumer shall be measured by a meter or meters installed and owned by the Company, and the Consumer agrees to pay the Company monthly for such energy in accordance with bills rendered therefor and computed in accordance with the rates, terms and conditions set forth in Schedule C-P-8-1, Original Sheet No. 61, of the Company's tariffs on file with The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio.

G. The Company shall have the right to enter upon the premises of the Consumer at any time for the purpose of inspecting, testing, repairing and removing meters, or other appliances or property of the Company. It is further agreed that at the termination of this contract the Company shall have access to the Consumer's premises for the purpose of removing its property therefrom.

H. The Consumer shall make default in the payment of any bill as aforesaid, or shall violate any of the terms or conditions of this contract, and after such default or violation the Company shall give the Consumer written notice of its intention to cut off the supply of electrical energy on account of said default or violation, then the Company shall have the right to cut off such supply at the expiration of five days after giving such notice, unless within such five days the Consumer shall make good such default or violation. Should the Consumer continue in default or violation hereafter, the Company may continue to withhold the supply of electrical energy until such time as such default in, or violation of, the terms of this contract has been corrected. The suspension of service shall not terminate this contract.

I. The Consumer shall grant to the Company practical and convenient locations and rights of way for overhead lines, poles, and transmission lines and accessory equipment required for furnishing the service provided for hereunder.

K. This contract shall be binding upon and inure to the benefit of the parties hereto, their respective successors and assigns.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, said Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Company, has caused its corporate name to be signed hereto by its President and its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed, attested by its Secretary on the day and year first above written; and the City of Cincinnati, State of Ohio, has caused to be hereunto affixed its corporate name and seal by its Director of Public Service of the day and year first above written, all of the above being duly authorized in the premises.

Fourth War Loan Campaign To Start January 18

LOCAL LEADERS PREPARING FOR GREAT EFFORT

National Total Set At Fourteen Billion, But Local Goal Undecided

SCORES TO PARTICIPATE

Clark Will Await Advice On Organization And Conduct Of Drive

Successful in two of their three War Loan campaigns conducted to date by Uncle Sam in an effort to finance his war effort, Pickaway county War Loan staff leaders were notified Monday by the Treasury department that the Fourth War Loan campaign will open January 18.

The date announced is somewhat earlier than expected, but committees which served under direction of Clark Will, president of the Third National bank, in the Third War Loan campaign are soon to be called together for an outline of the program.

The Treasury declared that the Fourth War Loan drive will have $14,000,000,000 as its goal. Opening January 18, it will continue until February 15.

In three previous drives more than $500,000,000,000 has been put into the treasury. All quotas have been oversubscribed nationally, while the Second and Third Campaigns here were successful. The first drive failed, falling somewhat below the total expected of the county.

Mr. Will has not yet received any information concerning the campaign except that the dates and the national total have been fixed. Local quotas are expected to be announced during the next few weeks.

The same system used in the Third War Loan drive is being advocated by the government, with each community lining up hundreds of solicitors who will make house to house calls in an effort to obtain as many buyers as possible.

The Fourth War Loan drive is being broken down into several subdivisions. Major attention will be placed on the individual quota of $5,500,000,000. From January 18 to February 1 only sales to individuals will be reported. Sales to other nonbanking investors will open February 1.

Securities to be included in the Fourth Drive will include Series C, F and G savings bonds, Series C notes, 2 1/2 percent bonds of 1965-70, 2 1/2 percent bonds of 1956-59 and 7 1/2 percent certificates of indebtedness.

Contrary to the policy of the Third War Loan, commercial banks will be permitted to invest some of their time deposits in the 2 1/2 and 2 1/2 percent bonds. Banks did not participate in the last campaign although they did in the first two drives.

The government collected $12,947,000,000 in the first drive, well over its $9,000,000,000 quota; raised $18,555,000,000 in the April campaign when only $13,000,000,000 was sought, and in September gathered in $18,943,000,000 in the campaign for $15,000,000,000.

Pickaway county's Third War Loan campaign was a strenuous one, the goal of $1,331,000 being far short with only a week to go. However, heavy buying during the last week of the drive sent the total of money subscribed well over the top.

Mrs. Elmer Clifton, Norton Court street, is making a good recovery in University hospital, Columbus, after major surgery.

SALES TAX RECEIPTS DROP DURING WEEK

Sales tax receipts for the week ending November 6 showed a slump in Pickaway county when compared with the report of the same week a year ago, but the year's total remained well ahead of 1942.

During the November 6 week only $1,633.13 was collected from sales tax stamps, while the same week a year ago brought $1,844.38 into the treasury.

The year's total so far is $72,076.97, while last year up to November 6 the total collected was $67,961.53.

was going to work for the State department. But one executive order followed another, with BEW becoming OEW, and OEW becoming FEA, all being absorbed by Leo Crowley, along with the Foreign Economic Office of the State Department. Result is that some people aren't entirely sure WHERE they are working.

A friend approached Baldwin at a cocktail party one afternoon. "Beany," he said, "have a drink."

"What's the matter?" persisted the friend.

"Not tonight," was the reply. "I've got to keep my mind clear, because tomorrow I'm going to make a final attempt to find out who my boss is."

NOTE: Since then, the State Department has appointed Henry Grady, former State Department assistant, to represent it on the Allied Control Commission in Italy. This is somewhat the same function to which it originally appointed Baldwin, so the situation is more confused than ever.

REPUBLICANS AND WILLKIE

Swivel-tongued Democratic Representative John Rankin of Mississippi doesn't know it, but House Republicans are getting irked at his stock trades against Wendell Willkie, which cost the taxpayers hundreds of dollars in Congressional Record printing bills.

Recently, House minority leader Joe Martin of Massachusetts gave this advice to some of his colleagues who applauded Rankin:

"It's not going to get you anywhere cheering a Southern Democrat's attack on a Republican. If you want to be against Willkie, that's your business, but no good will be served by making an exhibition of it. Whether you like him or not, Willkie is still the titular head of our party and he may be the Republican nominee again in 1944. That's something for you to remember."

GOOD NEIGHBOR PEACE

Ten years ago, there was a very serious war between Bolivia and Paraguay in the jungles of the Gran Chaco. Last week, the Presidents of Paraguay and Bolivia met at the border of the two countries in the Chaco, erected a large cross, and pledged themselves and their countries to everlasting peace.

The bitterness which animated these two South American countries has been wiped away, and they are Good Neighbors in every sense of the word.

Some diplomats hope this incident is a forecast that the bitterness actuating the enemies of World War II may likewise be eliminated after the passage of time.

INSIDE STORY OF HORNET

The Navy Department has okayed publication of the inside story of the famous airplane carrier Hornet, written as a book, "A Ship to Remember," by Alexander Griffen of the Philadelphia Record.

For the first time it reveals the spectacular operation of the ship which carried General Doolittle bombers within a stone's throw of Tokyo. Among other things, the navy okayed publication by Griffen of the fact that, at one time, the Hornet practically acted as a substitute for Henderson Field in the Solomons. That badly messed-up airport, on the night of October 14th, 1942, had only five planes left and gasoline to send out only four. So the Hornet came alongside the island, threw her planes into action and, for 36 hours, substituted for Henderson Field.

Even more astonishing is the revelation that, at one time during the low point in the South Pacific battle, the U. S. Navy had only one aircraft left undamaged in that entire expanse of water—the Hornet.

CANNERS AWAIT U. S. WORD ON PACK RELEASE

Canneries of the Circleville district are awaiting instructions from the War Food Administration concerning release of part of the corn and pumpkin goods now held for the government.

The WFA said Monday that it will soon release for civilian use part of the supplies of canned goods set aside for the government and for lend-lease. Included are corn, pumpkin, pineapple, asparagus, spinach and figs.

The WFA said it is not possible at present to estimate the exact quantities of the various vegetables available. Released canned goods will reach retail markets within a few weeks, about the time fresh fruits and vegetables are in lowest supply.

Nearly a quarter of a million cases of canned grapefruit juice will also be released for civilian use. It was announced earlier in the month that 2,970,000 cases of canned peaches, peas and ketchup will also be available soon.

Local canners could not estimate the amount of canned goods they are holding under government contracts.

QUIET WEEK END

Quiet week end was experienced by police with only three men being lodged in city and county jail on intoxication charges. They were Charles Hutchinson, 59, Route 4; Daniel McNichols, 34, Columbus, and Joe Bevans, 56, Williamsport Route 2. The latter was held in county jail, the others in city jail.

Fourth War Loan Campaign To Start January 18

LOCAL LEADERS PREPARING FOR GREAT EFFORT

National Total Set At Fourteen Billion, But Local Goal Undecided

SCORES TO PARTICIPATE

Clark Will Await Advice On Organization And Conduct Of Drive

Successful in two of their three War Loan campaigns conducted to date by Uncle Sam in an effort to finance his war effort, Pickaway county War Loan staff leaders were notified Monday by the Treasury department that the Fourth War Loan campaign will open January 18.

The date announced is somewhat earlier than expected, but committees which served under direction of Clark Will, president of the Third National bank, in the Third War Loan campaign are soon to be called together for an outline of the program.

The Treasury department has set the Fourth War Loan drive will have $14,000,000,000 as its goal. Opening January 18, it will continue until February 15.

In three previous drives more than $500,000,000,000 has been put into the treasury. All quotas have been oversubscribed nationally, while the Second and Third campaigns here were successful. The first drive failed, falling somewhat below the total expected of the county.

Mr. Will has not yet received any information concerning the campaign except that the dates and the national total have been fixed. Local quotas are expected to be announced during the next few weeks.

The same system used in the Third War Loan drive is being advocated by the government, with each community lining up hundreds of solicitors who will make house to house calls in an effort to obtain as many buyers as possible.

The Fourth War Loan drive is being broken down into several subdivisions. Major attention will be placed on the individual quota of $5,000,000,000. From January 18 to February 1 only sales to individuals will be reported. Sales to other nonbanking investors will open February 1.

Securities to be included in the Fourth Drive will include Series C, F and G savings bonds, Series C notes, 2½ percent bonds of 1965-70, 2½ bonds of 1956-59 and ½ percent certificates of indebtedness.

Contrary to the policy of the Third War Loan, commercial banks will be permitted to invest some of their time deposits in the 2½ and 2½ percent bonds. Banks did not participate in the last campaign although they did in the first two drives.

The government collected $12,947,000,000 in the first drive, well over its $9,000,000,000 quota; raised $18,555,000,000 in the April campaign when only $13,000,000,000 was sought, and in September gathered in $18,943,000,000 in the campaign for $15,000,000,000.
